FRONT AND CENTER

Head of the Class

It's that time of year again. Time for new classes to begin. Time to break out the practice record and the beginner handouts. Time to brush up on your clogging history lesson. Time to polish your shoes. And, maybe, it's time to evaluate your teaching program.

What goals did you set for yourself when you first set out to (or found yourself thrust into) teaching classes? How far have you come in meeting those goals, and what investments have you made in yourself to make your classes fun, informative and effective?

Clogging is a lively, fun and addictive dance. I don't have to tell you that. And while each individual teacher has their own style of teaching, this dance we love transcends that with a personality and vitality all its own. Clogging is it's own best marketing tool. Most of us found a class because we saw cloggers and said "I want to do that!" Keeping the focus on the dance and the music and providing a good solid teaching base is a great start for a healthy and prosperous hobby as a clog teacher.

Of course, being on top of the teaching game means having the right tools. Investing in a good book about the history of clogging will not only equip you to answer your student's questions, but will inspire and motivate you greatly. Many have taught clogging for years and know very little about this dance except what they may have heard briefly at a seminar or as part of the foreword of a book or syllabus. Even the seasoned teacher will get a lift from doing a little research into our heritage-rich dance.

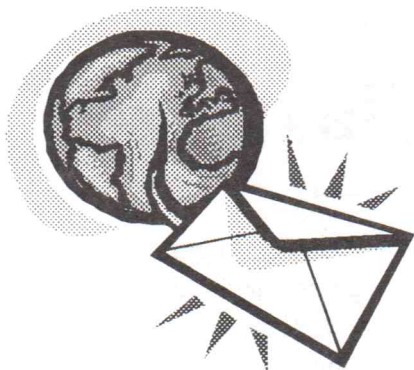

Learn some new tricks. Attend a seminar. Share ideas with your fellow instructors, and brainstorm on ways to get your students motivated and captivated. Choreograph a super-easy, new fun dance to a great piece of music that moves you. Even if you don't feel that choreography is your strength, putting together some very basic steps to a popular song will make both you and your students feel renewed and like you are a part of something fresh and exciting. Make some posters (or get your kids and grandkids to) that encourage your students to "Go for it" or "Feel the beat, move your feet!"

Most of all, make it fun and social. We don't have to clog the whole hour, do we? Start the class with an easy, fun circle up that gives you a chance to say a few friendly words to the group. Do an easy non-clogging mixer or play-party game that gives people a chance to touch, mingle and break the ice before the dancing and teaching starts. You'll find the dancers more receptive and the environment more conducive to learning.

Make the most of this new class session. Enjoy the helpful articles featured in the Double Toe Times. Take some time to evaluate your teaching program and invest some time in yourself and your teaching methods. It will pay off with less burnout, more enthusiasm and better classes!

Best wishes for a great clogging session to you and your students!

Cloggingly,
Jeff Driggs, Editor

Profiles in Clogging

I really enjoy your Double Toe Times. I think it would be interesting to see stories on our clogging instructors, famous and not-so-famous. What do they do for a living? How many children and grandchildren? How many generations of their family may be cloggers?

When we see the names in ads or in stories we feel as though we know a little about them. I would be interested in knowing more, such as what kind of classes they teach, as to old time, line, and Appalachian style clogging. As always, I look forward to your next issue.

Charlotte Panther Chesterfield, VA

We had an idea to throw at you for the DTT. We think it would be interesting to read about people who have been instructing and performing clogging for many years. You could highlight someone each month; explaining how they got started in clogging, who taught them to clog, their first performance, how any years they have been involved.

Some people that come to mind are Bob Johnson, Bill Nichols, Charlie Burns, Steve Smith, and you - Jeff Driggs. Do you know that Dena nor myself know how you got started in clogging? We discussed this coming home from your recent workshop in Illinois, and that's how we thought of the idea.

The Double Toe Times

Take care and we hope to see you soon.

Scott Dobson Solsberry, IN

Editor: Funny you should ask, Scott and Charlotte... We have been working on a series of articles profiling personalities within the clogging community for several months. Our biggest obstacle has been that many of the most colorful and influential characters in clogging are also the hardest to drag a good story and photo out of. We'll keep plugging away, and appreciate any ideas or suggestions about persons you -- our readers -- would like to see featured.

Looking for Mr. Good Floor

I am looking for information on materials and surface treatments which can withstand clogging? Would your readers have any sources for that type of information?

Cloggable Quote

I saw this quote in a magazine and had to share it with you and your readers. As an old-time dancer and the father of two daughters, it really struck a chord.

"Dancing is wonderful training for girls: It's the first way you learn to guess what a man is going to do before he does it."

Christopher Morley

Thank you for your magazine. It is wonderful reading.

*Ray Hayzlett
Williamsburg, VA*

Editor: Thanks for a great quote. I have always enjoyed them myself and am always in search of a good quote that can relate to clogging. One of the cutest I have seen is the quote, "Only an old-timer can remember when dancing was done with the feet."

I don't know who wrote it, but I am sure they would love to see what cloggers today are doing with their feet! Happy Clogging!

America's Clogging Hall of Fames names members of annual International Team

by Dan Agel, Founder
America's Clogging Hall of Fame
Maggie Valley, North Carolina

It goes without saying, that each July I look forward to announcing America's Clogging Hall of Fame's new International Clogging Team.

After having reviewed the names and information submitted to me, I have selected the following individuals to represent the organization as our 1999 International Clogging Team.

In some cases, we have reached back many years for some of this year's members. Some of these dancers were just young kids twenty five years ago when I first judged them in competition. Now I have the honor of naming them to our International Team.

Sandy and I congratulate each of the honorees for having reached this milestone in clogging. Their love for and dedication to Southern Appalachian Clogging has enabled each of them to express themselves with their dancing feet.

Members of the America's Clogging Hall of Fame's International Clogging Team will be recognized during the Organization's Fall meeting and Championship Dance-Off to be held at the world famous Stompin' Ground in Maggie Valley, NC on October 23, 1999.

Workshop Treats Cloggers Like Royalty

Muskogee "Castle" is Site of 6th Annual Oklahoma Borderline Workshop

by Mary Leslie
Vian, Oklahoma

The sixth annual Oklahoma Borderline Clogging Workshop welcomed Chip Summey, of Asheville, North Carolina, and Naomi Fleetwood-Pyle, of Seymour, Indiana, in quite an unusual way.

Our honored guests went from being placed one minute in the guillotine or being put through the torture chamber, to taking their places on the royal castle thrones as King and Queen. Needless to say, the "Castle" of Muskogee, Oklahoma, made quite an impression on these two awesome guest instructors.

Naomi Fleetwood-Pyle had never been to Oklahoma, but everyone was very glad she came. Chip Summey also kept us mesmerized with his wizardry in clog dance instruction. All in all, the day passed much too fast for our liking. These two skilled instructors took us through a variety of routines from swing and country to pop. You could not have asked for a better combination of good music, good dances, good company, and please -- let us not forget -- water, water, water! The Oklahoma Borderline Workshop would like to thank all of the dancers that came and made this workshop so warm, friendly and fun.

Chip and Naomi said that they found Oklahomans to be "very friendly and laid-back." Most travelers will recall the relaxed, friendly nature of this region. I guess it's the down-home feelin' that city folks seems to treasure.

There was a lot of playfulness going on at the Oklahoma Borderline Workshop as well. No one knew what to expect next. Chip found out that he shouldn't leave his dinner chair unattended. It seems he found something unusual in it upon his return from the buffet!

Connie Bartels came for another visit to the Oklahoma Borderline Workshop, and has already agreed to teach us some more of her fancy footwork next year. She is a special lady. I hear she is going off to Germany for a round trip next year, too. There is quite a demand for her fine talents. Everyone here is looking forward to her teaching again next year.

Borderline had a last minute disaster, realizing that no clogging vendors were coming. Naomi came to the aid and brought some of her wares with her to everyone's relief. She really did a good business that day. Thanks, Naomi!

Oklahomans were really wowwed with the charm that Chip exuded. His smile is one that any damsel would swoon over. It's a shame one person should have so much talent, business sense, and be such a handsome bloke all at the same time.

The "Castle" will again host next year's 7th Annual Oklahoma Borderline Workshop, and we Okies would like for all of you to come see us, get some wonderful clogging instruction and -- at the same time -- step back in time to the days of yore. You won't know if you be put in the dungeon, the torture chamber, or the rack! History comes alive here. Set your calendars for April 1, 2000 for our next work-

South 40 Express Workshop Chugs Along in Second Year

Clogging and Country Line Dance Workshop and Competition Gives Contestants Something to Sing About

by Tammy Dillow,
Latham, Ohio

The 2nd Annual South 40 Express Clogging and Country Line Dance Workshop was held June 4 - 6, 1999 at Long's Retreat Family Campground in Latham, Ohio. Workshop coordinator Tammy Dillow -- Director of the South 40 Express Cloggers -- said that many dancers from throughout the area attended this year's workshop and thanked everyone for helping to make the weekend a success.

The program began on Friday with a karaoke contest that gave everyone a chance to "be a star" and have some fun. Even some of the instructors took the mic to join the fun. After the contest, the crowd was entertained by some of Ohio's great clogging and country line dance demo groups. Following the demos, there was more fun. An evening dance program included requests, fun dances and a great country line dance to Backstreet Boys by Carol Lambert and Frank McCleese.

On Saturday, clogging instructor Brian Staggs, of Middletown, Ohio, began the program with a class of challenging advanced steps. Brian is a champion solo dancer and member of the Progressive Image Cloggers, who have won many honors in competition.

Teresa Earlywine, of Kentucky, taught an intermediate clogging dance, followed by Jack House, from Anderson, Indiana, and Jim and Judy Krohe, from Dayton, Ohio, who lead the dancers through some great country line and couple dances.

Brad Berry, of Prospect, Ohio, taught an awesome advanced clogging dance with lots of steps and moves, and Jack House returned to cool things down with an easy fun dance.

In the afternoon, the competition began. Over $3,000.00 in trophies and prizes were offered in a variety of categories for both clogging and country western dance. The first day's events honored the best in clogging and country western teams, as well as duos and duets, and country western couples. The following day saw competitions in clogging and country western solos. An evening dance followed the competition and everyone agreed that it had been a fun day of dancing!

On Sunday morning, Jack House opened the dance program with more great country line dances, followed by Jim and Judy Krohe, fellow DeeJays for the Dayton Two-Steppers, with an Irish flavored country line dance to Lord of the Dance. Brian Staggs returned to the stage on Sunday to teach more of his great advanced clogging steps, and Brad Berry also came back to teach an easy, fun clogging line dance. I even had a chance to join this great staff onstage to teach an intermediate clogging dance.

Plans are already underway for next year's South 40 Express Clogging and Country Line Dance Workshop and Competition. Many of your favorite instructors will be back, and we are offering great competition in Duos and Duets, teams and solos, plus adding new categories to the competition, including A Capella, Open Line, Hoe-down, and more. Make plans now to come join in the fun!

1999 Kentucky State Clogging Championships

Clogging Champions of America Qualifier held at Historic Kentucky Horse Center

by Jeff Parrott,
Lexington, Kentucky

The 1999 Kentucky State Clogging Championships enjoyed its most successful year to date as hundreds of cloggers from eight different states vied for over $3,000.00 in trophies and prizes, plus a package of performance opportunities throughout the year.

The Kentucky Clogging Championships began in 1990 as a part of the Camp Clog Workshop, held at Natural Bridge

State Park in Slade, Kentucky. Through the years, the attendance has grown at the event, and this year the decision was made to offer the competition as a separate event. The contest was moved to the prestigious Kentucky Horse Center in Lexington, Kentucky which features a spacious velvet-seated auditorium, stage and large backstage area, plus a dancer lounge and concession area. The Horse Center is located on Paris Pike, down from Millionaires Row. Competitors passed the Horse Farms for which Lexington is famous to attend the event.

The Clogging Sensation, from Oklahoma, was crowned the overall Grand Champion team and received a cash prize plus a 7' champion trophy. Grand Champion Duo/Duet was Lori Beth Rogers and Colin Ditty, and the Solo Grand Champions were Delohn Collins and Kelly Goodpaster.

The annual Norvia Burns Memorial Award was accepted by Ray Rogers for honoree Richard Jett, who was unable to attend, but sent his regards and heartfelt thanks.

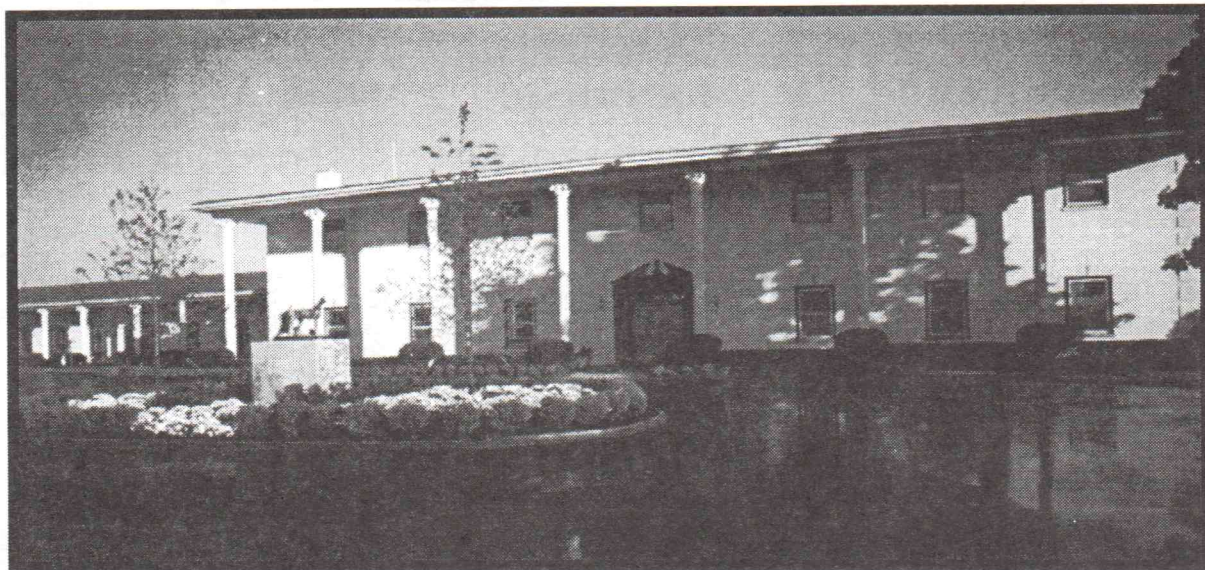

The Kentucky State Champion team has the opportunity to perform at the Kentucky State Fair, The Renfro Valley Entertainment Village and at the annual K-93 Fun Festival. K-93 was a sponsor of the event, along with the Horse Center, Ale-8-One, Coca-Cola and several local companies.

Plans are already underway for the 2000 Kentucky State Championships. We hope to see you there.

Cloggers in the Spotlight

Above: Clogging Instructor Josh King has married his sweetheart, Carolann Arthur. The couple are residing in Nashville, Tennessee where Josh is continuing his career in Music Publishing, as well as traveling most every weekend teaching!

Left: The Elm City Cloggers pose during their performance at the Connecticut Special Olympics. Director Barbara Rozett and her dancers include the athletes in the performance. According to Rozett, "The rewards of entertaining this group are immeasurable."

"We are surrounded by smiling faces, clapping hands and dancing feet," Rozett said. "It is our honor to be a part of this extraordinary group."

The Elm City Cloggers have already been invited to be a part of the next Connecticut Special Olympics Program to be held in the year 2000.

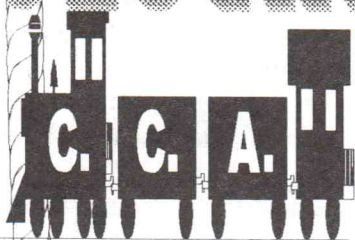

Right: The Critical Impact Cloggers, of Maysville, Kentucky performed this July in the Geuglingen Bluegrass Festival near Heidelberg, Germany. The group clogged to live music as part of the festival, and was accompanied by a bluegrass band featuring many of the festival's best pickers. In addition to the Geuglingen Festival, the group also performed at the Plauen, East Germany Youth Festival. Team Director Crystal Muse brought the East German audience to its feet with a rousing routine to The Devil Went Down To Georgia. Great new friendships were formed with the host families that volunteered to house the traveling group, and sight-seeing tours gave the group a chance to see the sites and visit the European shopping hot spots.

Critical Impact also performed for the Spiky Brush Cloggers of Salzburg, Austria and at the Austrian Alps Festival. The group thanks Ray Hattaway for the opportunity to join the festival groups in Innsbruck. Before returning to the United States, the group made their way through Paris in the rain and relaxed for a day in beautiful Luxemburg. Invitations have been extended for the group to return to many of the festivals in the future.

Our Dancing "Genie" at Seven Lakes

Fort Meyers Community Gets Their Wish Granted in Teacher Dee Gallina

By Lori Rockwell
Fort Myers, Florida

We needed a new teacher and Dee Gallina appeared as if called out of a bottle by a genie!

Seven Lakes is a gated, active adult community, of about 2 thousand people, located in Ft. Myers, Florida, on the west coast of the popular retirement area. We had just lost our long time line dancing teacher and went en masse to talk with our recreation director about how to enlist a new one. As providence intervened, Dee was in the director's office on another matter, when we walked in!! Not only did we get our line dance wish answered, but a first-class clogging instructor in the same package.

Dee (Dolores) has been a condo owner here at Seven Lakes for about 13 years and came down this year for her first winter as a retired (from the insurance industry) person and did not know what was waiting for her!

Dee graciously stepped in and weathered the transition from one teacher's music and style to her own with a good sense of humor. You know, a lot of us senior citizens do not adapt well to change! But Dee is very patient and doesn't rush through her routines... she willingly repeats anything that we don't understand. If we need extra or special help, Dee holds a 30 minute session before the regular class. She is a very youthful, trim, 63-year-old, energetic and enthusiastic lady. These are just some of the traits make us want to continue to return to her classes.

One of the most dedicated members of our line dance class is deaf. Dee works very closely with her to be sure that she feels comfortable with the steps. This student was a little hesitant about attending one of the line dance parties, but Dee encouraged her to attend and it was a huge success! Next season, Dee will be hostessing free TGIF dances for our entire village.

Dee gave a clogging demonstration at a line dance gathering and that's how we formed the Seven Lakes Cloggers. We are a beginner/intermediate group of women with an age range of from 60 to 79 years. There are approximately a dozen of us in our organization. Dee took us through the beginner basics and taught us three dances in the three months that she worked with us this first season. She also made a beautiful teaching video for us to use for practicing while she is away. We still meet every week and go through all the steps and routines so that we won't be rusty when she returns!

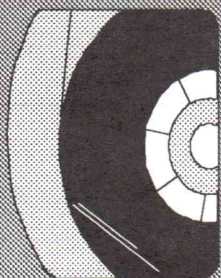

Dee Gallina has opened a new dimension of exercise, dance, and self expression for us that we had no idea was just around the corner or about to pop out of the genie's bottle!

Old-Time Square Dancing

More figures from a great collection of Square Dances by "Jonesy"

by Jeff Driggs, Editor

This month, we take a look at another of the fascinating figures found in a collection of square dances from the 1930's in a compilation called "Square Dances by Jonesy." I came across this find in an antique store in the small town of Lewisburg, West Virginia.

As interesting as the hand-typed figures to accompany the 78 records are the hand-written notes on the yellowed pieces of paper. The penciled note on this call says "moves quickly!"

Luckily, this call gives credit to Paul Phillips, of Oklahoma City, for the figure in this dance. I hope you enjoy this early square!

Choreographer's Corner

This issue's choreography comes from Sam Gill, of Ferndale, Michigan. Sam has been involved in the clogging world for many years, and has taught at many regional and national workshops. Sam recently has stepped in to take a leadership role in the Country Note Cloggers organization, of Windsor, Ontario.
