FRONT AND CENTER

October Surprises

Boo! October is a time of change. And change can be scary! For many, the weather changes from sunny warm to crisp and cool or downright cold, and the leaves that shaded us through the welcome Summer fall in a blanket of reds, yellows and browns. The classes that started in September are rolling along and in need of attention to keep dancers in for the duration. Competition teams are going after the last opportunities to gather points and qualify for the several organizations championships available. Plus, your team is in need of new routines for the slew of Holiday exhibitions, Christmas parties and shows you have booked. Plus, don't forget to get your quarterly taxes ready and put the books in order before it's too late. The dreaded year-end is around the corner which means the tax man cometh.

Sound familiar? I remember when I was teaching weekly classes four nights a week and heading out each Friday for another workshop or competition. Burnout becomes a serious hazard of the dance instructor's existence.

We hope this issue of the Double Toe Times will motivate you and give you some ideas for this important time of year. Our choreography corner offers you a great routine to spice up your Holiday shows. Now is the time to start work. With November just weeks away, the time is now to get in step.

Several feature stories share with you the successes of other teachers and groups who -- like you -- are out there every week spreading the gospel of clogging.

And our upcoming events listings and advertisements share with you several major end of year workshops and conventions that will surely give you lots of fun new material to share with your dancers.

Talk about competition! From the America's Clogging Hall of Fame Grand Champion Dance-off in Maggie Valley, North Carolina to CCA's Clogarama in Chattanooga, Tennessee, October promises to show off clogging's best dancers.

We hope all of these great clogging opportunities will help to take the "scare" out of this Halloween month!

Happy Clogging!

Your letters, faxes and e-mails

Power of the Press

It's Sunday August 20, 2000 and the phone rings. When I answer, the voice on the other ends says "Hi Loretta, my name is Kate and I'm a clogger from California. I got your name and number from the Double Toe Times." After a brief conversation with Kate about the time she would be spending in Michigan and the time and place of my classes we said adieu.

On Tuesday, August 22, as my class was beginning, Kate appeared to clog with us. We enjoyed having her so much. Just think... without the power of the press we might never have had the pleasure of meeting this super lady.

I had a similar experience a few years back, when Frances Turner of Tennessee visited our great state of Michigan.

Thank you Double Toe Times for providing this service and for this great magazine.

*Loretta Ward

Dear Loretta:

Thanks for sharing your experience with us. Each month, we hear from dancers just like you who have made new friends and contacts through our exclusive instructors and dancers directory. Your experience echoes those of many who write to say how much they enjoy hearing from cloggers who are visiting their area, vacationing, snowbirds or relocating. It just goes to prove that cloggers really are the friendliest people in the world!

Clogging Champions of America joins forces with America's Clogging Hall of Fame for a "Grand Ole" Clogging Festival

The Clogging Champions of America joined forces with the America's Clogging Hall of Fame July 29 and 30 as part of the Grand Ole Opry's 75th Anniversary Celebration. Many of the best dancers from around the country came together to compete in over 200 team events in 21 separate categories of competition called the OpryFest Grand Ole Clogging and Square Dance Festival.

"America's Clogging Hall of Fame is proud to continue it's long association with the Grand Ole Opry during this important event," said Lou Maiuri, Treasurer of the ACHF and Co-Coordinator of the event.

"OpryFest is particularly exciting because for the first time in history, dancers from both Clogging Championships of America and America's Clogging Hall of Fame will be competing against one another under the same roof," said Lynne Ogle, Event Coordinator for the Clogging Championships of America.

"With our two organizations coming together, we saw the best of both traditional and modern clog dancing."

While the competitions were held on the stage of the Grand Ole Opry House during the day on Saturday and Sunday, outside the Opry House special guest clogging groups, including Opry member the Melvin Sloan Dancers, were showcased on the Opry Plaza stage. The outdoor stage also featured bluegrass and old time bands that provided music for noncompetitive dancing and some impromptu hoedowns.

All involved agreed that the festival was a proud showcase of the best of traditional clog dance and modern step dance clogging.

"Anyone who has watched a Grand Ole Opry performance knows that dancers play an important role in the show," said Pete Fisher, General Manager of the Grand Ole Opry. "It's a Saturday night tradition to have clogging when the Opry curtain rises."

Grand Ole Clogging Festival

pions of America were on hand in force to help man the event and keep the more than 200 team dances, dozens of duos and duets and hundreds of solo dancers moving along and helping to provide the kind of fun and fellowship that has become a C.C.A. trademark.

In addition to Maiuri, several Americas Clogging Hall of Fame board members and volunteers helped with the event. ACHF Vice President Libb Mills was the rules official for the event, and judges included Elaine Enfield, Betsy Farlow and Paul Vaught. ACHF Membership Chair Diane Loftin and her husband Linn lined up the competition teams with the help of Robin Rollings. Jim Loveless, a longtime supporter of ACHF, served as an emcee for the team events and Nancy Aycok, Director of the Cripple Creek Cloggers, provided scorers and service for the judges.

The traditional category grand champion, The Clogging Sensation, from Oklahoma, graced the stage of the Opry on Saturday evening, and the nontraditional champions, the Tennessee Hoedowners, will also be given the opportunity to dance on the Opry stage. In addition, the winners in their respective categories also qualified for the CCA Show-down of Champions to be held in Knoxville, Tennessee in the Spring and for the ACHF Dance-Off held in it's home in Maggie Valley, North Carolina in October.

Thank you to everyone who helped to make this event a great success!

Teaching Hollywood to Dance

Fairfield, Kentucky resident contributes dancing skills to 'Coyote Ugly'

by Lisa Tolliver, Assistant Editor
The Kentucky Standard

The challenge: to choreograph a dance routine for five women on a space 15 feet long and two and a half feet wide while they wear boots.

The solution: Stephen Harbin.

Harbin, who lives in Fairfield, Kentucky, was presented the challenge last October when he was approached by a production assistant about helping to choreograph one of the dance routines in the recently released movie, "Coyote Ugly."

Harbin, who works third shift in the maintenance department of the Ford Motor Company, said he got a call from the production company in California after he got off work one morning in October.

The company wanted to know if Harbin could fly down and help them with a routine.

"I was ecstatic," Harbin said. "I almost screamed."

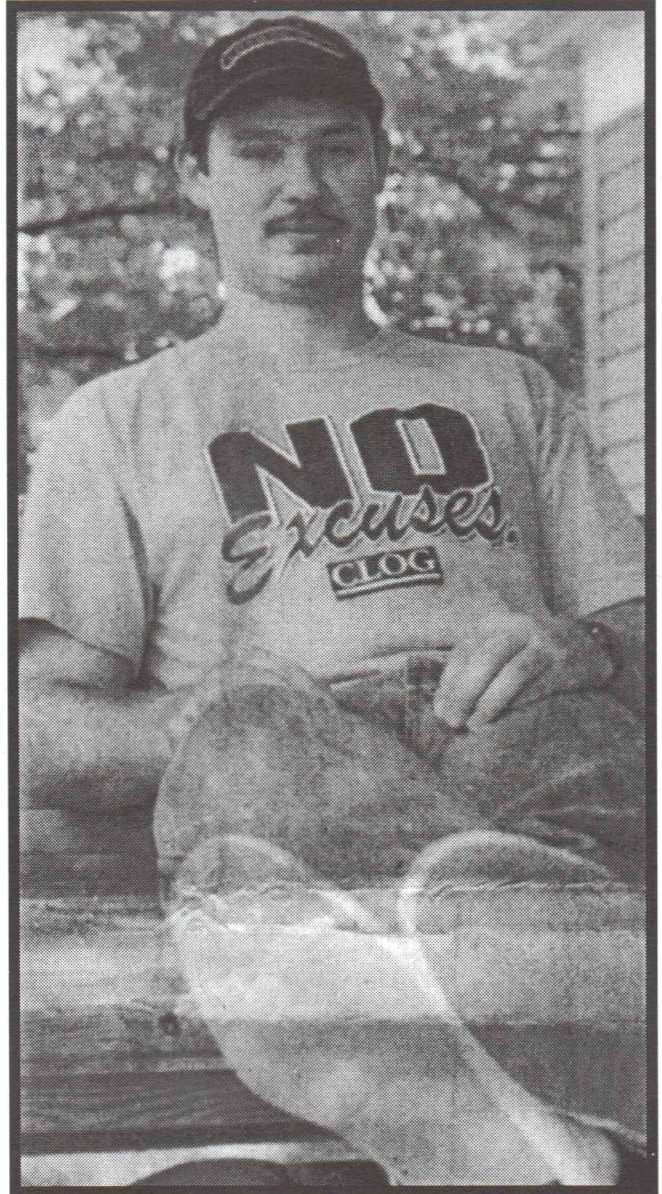

Harbin's answer to the production company was, of course, "Yes."

The company wanted Harbin to help the choreographer add some clogging styles to one of the routines.

"They wanted the look and moves without the clogging sound," Harbin said. "They wanted to do it without the sound because they wanted to wear cowboy boots."

Harbin, 27, has been clogging since he was 15. He's been teaching for several years and choreographing routines for about four or five years.

He teaches a class in Bardstown every week. But his specialty is breaking down those routines and teaching them to other instructors.

The hardest part of breaking down the routines is counting them out to the beats of music, Harbin said. But it's a challenge he enjoys.

Harbin and the group he's taught for the past seven

Teaching Hollywood

years, have shared their talent with people around the country and have even entertained at private parties hosted by Hollywood couple Linda and Jerry Bruckheimer.

For the past three years the Bruckheimers have lived part-time on a farm in Bloomfield.

Jerry Bruckheimer produces movies for Hollywood. His list of credits include "Armageddon," "Flashdance," "Top Gun," "Con Air" and the recently released flick "Gone in 60 Seconds."

His latest project is "Coyote Ugly."

The Bruckheimers are the connection that brought Harbin to Hollywood.

After being called in October, Harbin flew out to California the next Saturday.

He met with the choreographer, found out what he wanted the dance to look like and the size of the stage.

The stage was designed to be a bar in a popular night club.

The routine would have to be tight and not use a lot of space.

The dance would be performed to "The Devil Went Down to Georgia."

"They wanted it to be showy and sexy," Harbin said. "But it had to fit on the bar."

Harbin went back to his hotel room and wrote most of the routine that night.

"I only had one minute and 30 seconds to do," he said. "It wasn't that long."

The next step was getting the choreographer's approvals and teaching the women in the movie.

Harbin worked mainly with the lead actress in the movie Piper Perabo who plays Violet Sanford and two of the other women in the movie, Bridget Moynohan, who plays Rachel and Izabello Miko, who plays Cammie.

He also worked with Tyra Banks, who plays Zoe, for a short while. But her tight schedule didn't allow for a lot of time.

"Coyote Ugly" is billed as a romantic comedy. The movie centers around Violet who travels to the "big city" to become a songwriter. To make ends meet she begins working as a bartender at a popular night spot known as "Coyote Ugly." The antics at the nightclub keep its customers coming back.

The bartenders spend part of their time entertaining the crowd by dancing on the bar.

The routine Harbin helped choreograph is near the beginning of the film.

All of the actresses have done doubles. The tight footwork is done by the dance doubles in the film. However, the stars also had to learn the routine so their body movements would match the close-up shots of the feet.

Harbin did not work with the dance doubles. He taught the routine to the choreographer and then flew back home four days after he arrived in Hollywood.

"The dance doubles are professionals," he said. "They can learn it in 30 seconds."

Harbin, his wife Michelle, their daughter, Taylor, and Harbin's parents and friends went to see the movie in Bardstown on a Friday evening recently.

They stayed until the end to Harbin's name in the credits. He was listed as an assistant to the choreographer.

"I started clogging as a hobby," Harbin said. "I never thought it would take me quite this far."

"If they called again, I'd go back," he said.

Cloggers dance the night away

by Allyson Reynolds Dixon
Staff Writer, West Texas Life

Once a week, Beverly Grenda drives just a few blocks from home and enters a world few people can imagine.

It's almost a past life - one that includes scratchy 45 rpm records and a dance form that originated in the Southern Appalachian mountains.

Grenda is a member of the Lone Star Cloggers, a West Texas dance group that formed about three years ago to promote clogging in San Angelo. Taught locally by Cindy Bybee, clogging is steeped in history and rich in color.

"And it's a lot of fun," Grenda said.

According to the Texas Clogging Council, the clog dance form arrived in Texas in 1973, when Gloria and Wade Driver introduced clogging to people in Houston. San Angelo's Lone Star Cloggers began in 1997. The group is open to men as well as women, and participants do not have to bring a partner.

Clogging has strong ties to the "step dance" of the British Isles, but it has also been influenced by the traditional dance of Native Americans and the "buck and wing" dance of African-Americans. Even Russian gypsies have added their influence to the clog dance.

Clogging is similar to tap dancing, Grenda said, except that its shoes have double taps instead of single taps and the dance is done from the knees down in with the downbeat, usually with the heel keeping rhythm.

It looks much like the Irish step dance seen in Michael Flatley's

"Riverdance," Bybee said.

"But ours is a variation of what he does," Grenda said. "Clogging is (American) specifically."

Bybee began clogging nine years ago under the instruction of Denver City's Helen Cassidy. Bybee had been a member of the drill team in high school but had never done anything like tap dancing or clogging before.

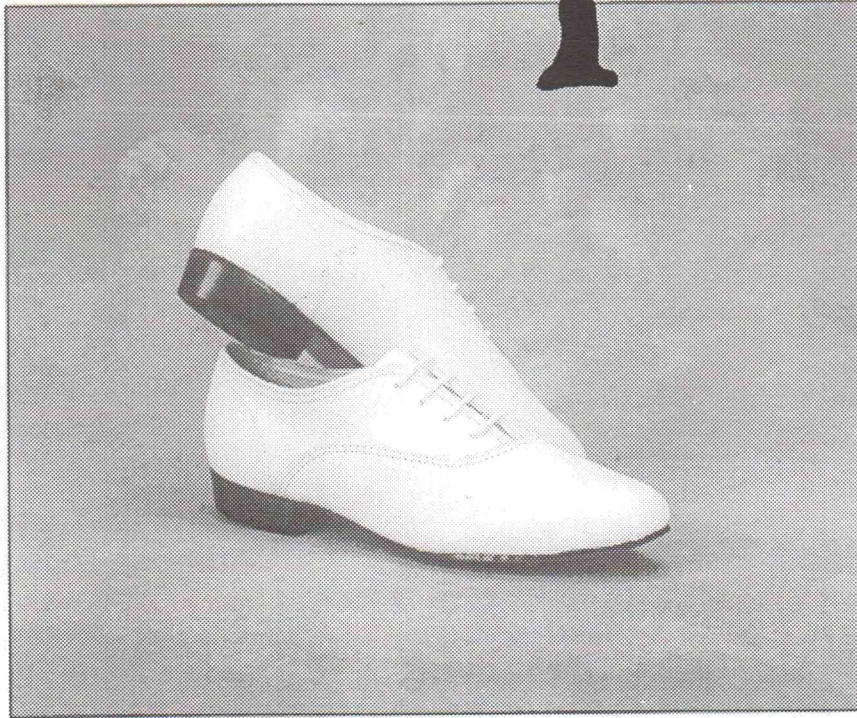

But when she saw Cassidy and a group perform in Midland, Bybee knew she had to learn to clog.

Grenda said she loved to watch clogging years before she ever tried it.

"I tried to get my husband to do it because it is so much fun to watch," Grenda said, who also square dances. "I don't think I'd ever be able to do it, but by the second lesson I was learning a routine."

first begin a routine, Bybee slows the record player way down, allowing the dancers to learn the different steps. Eventually, she increases it to the normal speed.

"We always try to do a warm-up with a few slower songs or by doing a walk through," she explained.

The group performs everything from Elvis Presley to Cajun music to Shania Twain.

Both women have seen a lot of benefits from clogging. Bybee loves the adrenaline rush and performing in front of crowds. And she and Grenda both see physical benefits to clogging.

Clogging helps develop better coordination and more gracefulness, enhances flexibility, lowers blood pressure, increases endurance and strength, improves lung capacity, relieves stress "and burns about 400 calories per hour," Grenda said.

Grenda said she has had some neurological problems that caused difficulties with her feet, "but it has made me work my feet," she said. "And there is no impact on your knees, your ankles or your feet."

Bybee laughed. "We have people who hate to exercise, but by gosh, they don't miss a Monday night," she said.

There are additional benefits, as well. "There's so much camaraderie," Grenda said. "We're all such good friends."

The Magazine of Clogging and Percussive Dance DOUBLETOE TIMES

Naomi Brings Fun to Clogging

By Sam Williams
Greenville, MO

Gallatin, Tennessee, lived up to its reputation by providing beautiful scenery and a good time for the people who attended the first annual Smoky Mountain Workshop September 24 and 25, 1999. Some people at the Gallatin Convention Center. Some people even came in 3 days early just to visit the restaurant and outlet malls, the new Hard Rock Cafe and the music theaters that have become a trademark of this area.

The instructors who taught at the workshop seemed to be in rare form. Each instructor taught new routines and the participants could not say enough good things. The Convention Center in Gallatin is wonderful, so spacious and beautiful. We can't wait to host Spring Fling there in March of 2000.

The weekend started at 1:00 p.m. on Friday with clogging workshops. It was rather comical when Josh King showed up just a wee bit late due to traffic and the door security wouldn't let him in until Lynne came to the door to say it was okay. That was a laugh all weekend, but you bet your bottom dollar she will again be at the door at bottom of Spring Fling - so you better have your ribbon! Workshops continued until 5:00 p.m., then everyone took a short dinner break and returned at 7:30 p.m. for the introduction of instructors and workshops. There was a dance until 10:00 p.m. and then I believe everyone hit the streets to enjoy the sights of Gallatin. The next morning they sure looked tired!

Saturday was another day filled with new routines.

Clogging Instructors and Dancers Directory

A listing in the Double Toe Times exclusive Instructors and Dancers Directory entitles you to list your events, competitions and festivals in the Upcoming Events column free of charge. The Directory is also a valuable source for networking, marketing and promotion. A bullet (■) in front of the Instructor or dancer's name indicates that this person can, and does, promote old-time clogging and traditional dancing.
