FRONT AND CENTER

Do You Hear What I Hear?

Have you ever been to a clogging class or workshop or competition and seen the dancer whose exuberance was so great that you felt a sense of self consciousness?

I remember when I first began to clog. The sheer joy of finally finding something that I could do that allowed me to express myself was so great that I would dance for hours. Even at a hoedown or open dance I would freestyle like no one was watching. I have even seen some early videotapes from the old Fontana Village workshops in the mountains of North Carolina and thought to myself, "what was I thinking?"

Last month, I had the pleasure of teaching at the Lake Cumberland workshop in Kentucky, run by Vickie Stine and featuring Steve Smith and Charlie Burns. The energy level of the weekend was amazing. Lake Cumberland has always drawn a crowd of eager dancers to the mountain lodge overlooking the lake that offers fun dances Friday and Saturday and classes on Saturday. During the evening dance I watched as a floor full of people danced number after number with a fervor that only a clogger could understand.

I have been clogging for over 20 years. Sometimes the LAST thing my knees want to do is make a b-line for the dance floor. It's easy to say, "I'm just watching." This particular weekend, though, one could not help but be drawn by the energy of the dancers who were so happy to be back at this haven of clogging, happy to share a weekend with old friends, happy to see Steve Smith back on the teaching stage and his family dancing the night away with us. Before long I found myself right out there in the middle of the floor dancing my heart out and my foot sore.

Nietzsche said "and those who were seen dancing were thought to be insane by those who could not hear the music."

Ask any director of teens to perform for their school classmates and half of the group will jump for joy... the other half will jump out the nearest window!

We care so much about how we are perceived. It effects our actions, our decisions, and even our hairstyles.

Just remember the next time your friends question your commitment to this dance, and the weekends away, and the noisy shoes....

WAIT... is that music I hear?

Happy Clogging,
Jeff Driggs, Editor

Britney Update

Thank you so much for sharing Britney's story with your readers (April 2002, Brave Indiana Girl Lets her Hands Do the Clogging).

To update you on her, we recently found out that her spine has gone from a 29 degree angle to a 65 degree angle. She is getting a back brace on May 8 and is having an MRI in late April to help determine the cause. She also broke her leg recently, so we appreciate your thoughts being with us.

Britney thought it was really cool having her picture on the front cover of the Double Toe Times and it came at a good time to help cheer her up.

Becky Hostetler
Nappanee, IN

Dear Becky:

Thank you for your letter. Your granddaughters story has brought a flood of messages and emails to our office with warm wishes and to let us know how much her story has inspired them. She has certainly stolen our hearts with her warm smile and courageous spirit.

We have also had other parents of children who have overcome health issues to participate in clogging contact us to say that Britney is a role model of what young people can do.

If our readers would like to send their greetings and wishes to Britney as she bravely goes through her latest medical procedures, send them to:

Shuffling is a Drag

I have noticed in the traditional solo competition rules for an upcoming competition the requirement of "drag-slide" clogging. Is this the old time "drag-slide" clog step? In my ten years of teaching I have not encouraged the full step as it is not the best exercise for the knee joints. I do demonstrate it and encourage students to try it, but when it is included in a piece of choreography I generally do the "in place" movement.

I look forward to your reply.

Sofie Horvath
Chardon, OH

Dear Sofie:

The "Traditional" solo category is included in some competitions to celebrate and encourage the drag-slide style of shuffle clogging which is very grounded in the roots of Appalachian clogging.

The continuing growth of clogging as a step dance and the inclusion of influences from buck, tap, Irish dance and French-Canadian step dancing have yielded a competition solo style that is high in percussion and energy on the ball of the foot. The back and forth motion of the drag-slide is almost gone in modern clog dance competition at the challenge level. I think one reason for this is that shuffle clogging utilizes the downbeats and upbeats of the music, while modern clog step dancing utilizes the eighth note counts of music -- providing more percussive action in each beat.

For that reason, when it comes to setting the speed at a clogging event, you will always hear the drag-slide cloggers saying "speed it up" and the modern percussive cloggers saying "slow it down!"

I include a traditional solo category at the competitions I help to coordinate in Ohio and Kentucky because I feel strongly that the traditional styles of clogging need to be preserved and celebrated. It is interesting to watch the hot-shot competition dancers struggling to find steps when they are denied to opportunity to use the French-Canadian double-double and Irish steps that have infused themselves in our modern clogging style.

I would hope that more competition organizers would offer and encourage this category of solo competition. Those who have entered can tell you that it is one of the most fun events they have and it often brings amazing dancers to the floor that would not come out for the double-time footwork in the challenge level.

I, too, do not teach the drag slide in the first sessions of my clogging classes. I use a method that takes dancers from walking to a kick - step, to kick-step-step-step that allows them to naturally progress through the movements and timing to arrive at a kick-step-rock-step. The double toe motion is taught using the movement of the foot in the kick and the basic is complete. When teaching the brush-up, I begin to teach the heel as a time keeper and from the heel rhythm I teach the drag slide and work to incorporate it in the Appalachian clog step. Because the drag-slide is too aerobic for some, I always stress to students to let your footwork be an expression of the music. You can always return to the simple basics. I want to keep everyone dancing.

The drag-slide is what makes the Appalachian clog dance style different from its European cousins. Dance historians like Jerry Duke and others have written of their theories that the drag-slide came from the influence of Native American dancing on the early step dance.

While clogging remains the melting pot of step dances, and we have created an amazingly intricate, unique and energetic step dance, I still will always have a special fondness for the Appalachian shuffle clogging style.

Clogging Just Floors Me!

I need a little bit of info. We are building a new clogging studio and need any info about the best type of flooring and subflooring for absorbing clogging impact and taps.

A couple of years ago you ran an article about flooring. I wondered if you could repeat it.

We appreciate any info you might have.

We think the Double Toe Times is great!

Linda Torno

Northern Explosion Cloggers

Dear Linda:

I am glad you are enjoying the Double Toe Times!

This issue should help provide some info for you about flooring for your new clogging studio. Sharon Nelson, President of the Michigan Swing Dance Association, is sharing some information that she has gathered from several different sources about building, finishing and maintaining a home studio hardwood floor. I hope this helps in your project.

Keep Up the Good Work

Thank you for sending a sample issue of the Double Toe Times. I read it from cover to cover the moment it came and now I am excited to be getting a subscription. I especially like the event listing.

I just received my new issue of the Double Toe Times and I swear it gets better with every issue.

All of my dancers are amazed at the fact that there is a clogging magazine that is so informative. Keep up the good work and we will be waiting for the next issue.

We appreciate any info you might have.

The Double Toe Times prints Upcoming Events as a service to those instructors and dancers listed in our exclusive directory, and as a service to our advertisers.

Expanded Directory Listings

Beginning June 1, 2002 the Double Toe Times exclusive Instructors and Dancers Directory will offer additional information on instructors to help you find classes, workshops and competitions as you travel and network. In addition to your name, address, telephone and email address, you may now list your personal or team website. Business related sites or sites which are sales related cannot be listed in the personal directory, but may be listed in the new Classified Directory beginning June 1. Call or email the Double Toe Times office for details on adding your website to this Classified Directory.

Improved Event Listings

Readers will already notice changes in the upcoming events section of the magazine to help categorize events with (W) for workshop, (C) for Competition and (P) for Performance.

Beginning in June, we will also list Festivals (F) around the world that feature clogging or percussive dance.

In addition, contact phone number for events will now be listed in the events listing in addition to a notation to guide readers to your Instructors Directory Listing for more contact info. You may also list your events website in your event listing.

In order to provide the most comprehensive listing of events for you, any event may be listed in the upcoming events, even if the contact person is not a subscriber. Those with a Directory Listing will include a notation to your listing for more information.

NEW! Classified Directory

Beginning June 1, 2002 the Double Toe Times will featured a Classified Directory with listings for:

2002 Tennessee Clogging Classic

by Terry Glass
Surgoinsville, Tennessee

The Tennessee Clogging Classic was held March 15 and 16 and cloggers from all over came to dance for the largest cash prizes ever offered at a clogging competition. The competition got under way Friday night with traditional solos and duos/duets. The Meadowview Resort and Conference center in Kingsport, Tennessee was full of cloggers from Florida, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio, Georgia, Tennessee, Indiana, and several other states. Saturday started early with the judges meeting at 7:30 a.m. and we were dancing individuals at 8:00 a.m. sharp.

The stage was set with a 15' X 20' video screen so every one could see no matter where they were in the hall. There were TV monitors in the dressing rooms so the cloggers that were changing could keep up with who was on the stage. There was a practice room provided with a TV monitor so teams could practice and also watch the competition and for the first time ever there were live updates on the web giving pictures and winners as they were announced.

Chip Summey and Jeff Parrott were the Emcees and with the back stage help of the Hoedowners kept the competition moving like clockwork.

With the scoring help of Dieter Brown, Kathy Linkous and computer skills of Kathy Carter the scores came rolling out and the competition moved smoothly.

There was lots of back stage activity with trying to keep up with all the video that was being fed to the overhead screen. This activity was being directed by Ron Carter and his videographers, Katrina Carter, Amy Long, Jerry Linkous, Janie Smith, Megan Wheat, and several others.

Shannon Glass engineered all the sound and the man behind the stage was Robbie Ramsey.

All the Hoedowners were hard at work running scores, taking care of the door and making sure everyone was enjoying themselves.

Jo Ann Glass was in charge of registration, with the help of several Hoedowners, Suzanne, Amy Taulli, and Marci Rickard. Preregistration was smoothly run with the help of Debbie Cox and Rose Golden.

Several Hoedowner parents took care of the door prize booth that every one liked as the day went on and door prizes were given out and around 4:00 PM balloons with cash and prizes fell from the ceiling as a traditional part of the competition.

Sherry Glass West kept everything running smoothly while the judges, Susan Phillips, David Spencer, Dale Helms, Kevin Parries, Tim Silver and Ryan Rickard did an excellent job of scoring over 350 individual amateur, a capella, challenge solo dancers and almost 200 team dances all on Saturday and the competition was over by 11:30 PM. Thanks to Carla Ramsey the judges were well feed with all types of goodies. The Hoedowners parents jumped in and removed the stage and decorations and put it on the truck. It looked like a pit stop at a NASCAR race. Then lots of the team groups went to Damon's Restaurant to eat and watch highlights of the days competition on their five overhead video screens. This kept some of us there until almost 1:30 AM Sunday.

Well, when the smoke cleared we had several great winners during the two days.

Heather Grissom won both the traditional solo and challenge female solos. Brandon Norris won the challenge male solo. Bridget Cummings won amateur female solo and Tanner Mayfield won amateur male solo. Shannon South and her brother Brandon Norris won duo/duet and $150.00. Hoosier Pride from Ohio won Amateur Team and $250.00. Dynamite Edition from Alabama won Overall Junior Team and $600.00. The challenge Grand Champions went as 3rd runner up, Taps N Motion from Kentucky winning $500.00. 2nd runner up Dynamic Edition Sr. from Alabama winning $750.00. 1st runner up Clogging FX YA from Georgia winning $1,250.00. OVERALL GRAND CHAMPION 2002 TEAM was POWER N PRECISION from Kentucky winning $2,002.00.

Clogging FX from Atlanta, Georgia won the Spirit award and Electric Rhythm from Jacksonville, Florida won the longest distance traveled award.

This was one of the most exciting times ever at a competition and everyone seemed to have a great time.

The Tennessee Hoedowners and parents want to wish everyone good luck throughout the competition year and thank you all for coming.

A special thanks also goes out to all of the Hoedowners parents that spent many hours to make this the best competition we ever sponsored.

Thanks: Wanda Linkous for all the pictures, Linda Cup for the Easter basket, Becky Morton for handling door prizes, J J Linkous and Cris Cox for the stage, Sweet Dreams for the decorations (Kelly and Elizabeth for taking charge of the decorations while Mom was in England), Angie Cox for the Hoedowner logo's and the t-shirt design.

Thanks to Robin and Whitney Hill for painting the stage and great big thanks to the three top ad sales winners, Ashely Ramsey, Heather Linkous and Michelle Golden for your hard work so we could have prize money.

All of the Tennessee Hoedowners for their great job of taking charge of all the things that had to be done to make a great competition. Y'all come back next year and see us... ya hear!

Making a Sprung Wood Dance Floor

Dancers Offer Tips for Adding a Wooden Dance Floor to your Home Studio

Editors Note: The following dance floor tips come to us from Sharon Nelson's Michigan Swing Dance Association Website at www.msda.org. Sharon shares this info with us as a fellow dancer who understands the comfort and added benefits of a proper dance floor surface. Each section is a separate answer to the question of how to make a dance floor for your home.

• Over the years, hardwood dance floors have been a topic of endless concern and discussion to both beginning dancers as well as advanced dancers. I have danced on surfaces (represented as dance floors) ranging from wood, black top, bricks, slate, cement and kentile. The best dance floor I have danced on was referred to as a "sprung" floor. This type of floor I'm told provides some resiliency to the dancers which resiliency is not provided by other surfaces. Tongue and groove hardwood (maple or oak) are best for durability and comfort to the dancing feet. I'm told that the wood is laid over a base of plywood and the plywood is laid over a variety of wood furring strips that all contractors do not agree upon. Most were in agreement that laying the wood surface directly over a concrete slab would cost the least but would be the floor least likely to survive heavy traffic or maintenance. I will not question their logic.

I do know from experience that the ideal situation is not always attainable when it comes to finding comfortable dancefloors. When I have danced for any length of time (over an hour or two) on a floor laid over concrete I get what is known as "shin splints". The ailment occurs the next day (or at least the symptoms) up the front of my lower legs where the muscle(s) attach to the "shin bone". I have found the same problem when dancing on "beautifully kept" gym floors used for "sports" and dancefloor alternatively. The wood on gym floors is usually laid on end (as opposed to the flat side) and then the surface which is usually very beautiful to the eye is provided with a protection of some nonskid polyurethane lacquer. For basketball players in "sneakers" or "other rubber soled foot gear" it is ideally suited.

• Sometimes, I think, "sprung" means the floor is on wood beams above an open space ... So if you want one, all you gotta do is dig a basement underneath ...

More seriously: we had a wood floor put in our back room (16'x24') for dance. We had it "sprung". Here's what goes down, starting from the bottom:

- Original cruddy concrete slab.
- Special very-liquid (and expensive) concrete to level slab.
- Plastic film vapor barrier
- Little rubber thingies, about 2" square and 1/2" thick, specially made for this sort of thing.
- 1/2" plywood running THIS way
- 1/2" plywood running THAT way
- 3/4" oak strips.
- Finish.

It was rather expensive ... the special concrete to level the old slab was a good part of it. Apparently some architects and floor people know all about this stuff, if you just say "dance floor" or "sprung floor". On the other hand, we had some floor guys come over to look at it to bid on it, and they weren't interested enough to give us a reply of any kind! The result: when you jump up and down, someone can see the floor give under you. The result to you: no pain!

As for finish: getting the finish you want may be hard. The typical "dance" floor is much too slick for folk-dancer types. My suggestion is to get a cooperative contractor, and have him do samples until you like that sample.

Give me a call if you want to talk more. I could look up my records.

Dave Golber
(310) 391-1269

• This was originally a reply to a query of mine asking for dancefloor information, because I was about to be involved in the construction of a 1,500 s.f. ballroom floor.

We followed this plan, after having gotten *exactly* the same story (as well as a nice discount on the "little rubber thingies") from a local floor builder. Fortunately, the leveling concrete was not necessary in our case, and we used tar paper as our vapor barrier. The rubber thingies are stapled to the bottom of the bottom layer of plywood. I believe we placed them on 1' centers both directions, but check with a knowledgeable authority to be sure.

Making a Wooden Dance Floor

The whole sandwich is held together with the staples or nails which are shot into the tongues of the flooring strips with a special pneumatic gun. Our floor guy suggested the staples, which did work very nicely. (these are very serious staples.) You must leave space (we were told to leave a half inch) between the floor structure (plywood as well as flooring) and all walls in order to accommodate swelling. We were also told to let the flooring sit for some time (seems like it was one week) in the room to allow it to shrink or swell in response to the usual level of humidity in the room, which may be quite different than that where the flooring was stored before.

This makes for a very nice floor. We were very pleased with it; it was not squishy by any means, but it was certainly a far cry from dancing on tiles laid directly on concrete.

I say "was" because not long after we built this floor, the studio was flooded by a plumbing accident in an adjacent business and our floor was ruined. The whole thing was torn out and rebuilt (exactly the way we had done it) by a professional flooring company (paid for with insurance dollars.)

My only regret is that the floor was finished with what I believe was a polyurethane type finish. This made a O.K. dancing surface, because it was not put on too thick — the texture of the wood was still apparent. (unlike the very glassy appearance of modern maple gymnasium floors) Nevertheless, I was hoping to follow the suggestion of another person who replied to my query and just saturate the floor with linseed oil after sanding it down. Once the floor has soaked the oil in for a couple of days the excess is wiped off, and the floor can apparently be used in a matter of days. I was hoping for this kind of finish because I am in agreement with the person who mentioned here that his (her?) favorite floor was bare wood worn smooth by dancing, and I figured this was as close as we could get and still take proper care of the wood.

• Finishing the Floor

Having just completed yet another refinishing job on dance floors, I have gained a moderate amount of knowledge in this field. I must say this is a job that is VERY labor intensive. It also requires patience. I do not recommend Polyurethane, although it looks "pretty" it is not functional as a dance floor. I do recommend "Dura-seal" the kind without Polyurethane. In the color of your choice. Keep in mind not much of the color will be seen. However, don't mix them because it will be obvious.

Steps:

1. Sand floors remove all of the old finish. Use a drum sander for the major part of the work and an edge sander for the rest.
2. Thoroughly clean the floor. But, don't use a liquid, it will cause you to loose a whole day.
3. Apply the first coat of Dura-seal. There will be three. This should be the thickest coat. Application instructions are provided on the can you can follow these for the product. I also recommend the Quart size of Dura-seal. The gallon size is a different formula which takes longer to dry.
4. Allow 24 hours for the first coat to dry.
5. With 100 (00) sand paper remove ALL the dura-seal on the SURFACE of the floor.
6. Apply a second and third coat of dura-seal. Allow 8-12 hours of dry time between coats.
7. Remove ALL dura-seal from the surface of the floor. If any Duraseal remains on the surface of the floor it will feel sticky in dance shoes.

You REALLY want to dance right on the wood of the floor.

Once you have completed this process the floor should last about 20-30 years. If you plan ahead you should be able to finish a floor in about 3 days (depending on the size of the floor). I finished 2600 sq ft. in three days with one helper.

Introducing: The Flatfooter

A shoe designed by flatfooters for flatfooters. With excellent support, the Flatfooter shoes fit like a fine pair of gloves. The Flatfooter is made from full grain leather uppers and are quarter lined with pearl pig skin. The Flatfooter shoes are constructed with Micro Cellular foam in the sock lining for shock absorption and to help aid in preventing foot injury. Lined for comfort, built for sound, the dancer can easily incorporate flatfoot technique amongst buck and shuffle steps.

More stable than the common clogging shoe, the Flatfooter is specially designed with a solid heel and low resonant flatfoot sound that can be heard by your audience. You and your team will see an improvement in the ease of dance when you wear these wonderful shoes.

A design by Bob Warner, CCI, culminating years of study through teaching and evaluating hundreds of dancers styles, has brought forth a shoe for the flatfoot cloggers needs.

To order by credit card:

Go to www.ebay.com and search for "clogging", then look for our ads at click on the little red flag that says "STORE" and enter your payment information.

No metal -- just great sound!

A shoe kin to a fine musical instrument, and made under contract by the trusted Mid-South Footwear Company of Manila, Arkansas.

Mens, Ladies & Childrens Sizes

Also available in "Flash White" for show -- without the toe piece and special heel surface to allow for steel taps.

The Flatfooter can also be ordered without the toe piece.

Clogging Instructors and Dancers Directory

A listing in the Double Toe Times exclusive Instructors and Dancers Directory entitles you to list your events, competitions and festivals in the Upcoming Events column free of charge. The Directory is also a valuable source for networking, marketing and promotion. A bullet (■) in front of the Instructor or dancer's name indicates that this person can, and does, promote old-time clogging and traditional dancing.
