FRONT AND CENTER

Dancing In Your Heart

How many times have you performed at a show to find folks comment to you after, "I could never do that, but I sure wish I had tried when I was younger.?" How many of your friends that don't understand our passion for a dance that keeps us in classes a couple of nights a week and on the road for workshops and competitions nearly every weekend will tell you they would try dancing if they had the time?

My Grandmother, Nancy James, is in her eighties now and in a care home in Florida. I had no greater cheerleader for my clogging efforts than she. While Granny always knew the jig step and could shuffle around the floor to her precious old-time and country music, whenever took the time to take a class in clogging. I used to think that she had missed so much but not trying to learn more steps. All my efforts to get her to try it brought a grin and a line, "Honey, I couldn't do that like you do in a million years." My family had squared danced as long as I can remember and both of my parents and a couple of my brothers ended up taking clogging lessons, but I was the only one that stayed with it through intermediate classes. In my mind, I thought I was the only one that had a genuine interest in the dance. Granny never missed a chance to see me perform and even went as a reporter for the local newspaper and a member of the West Virginia Silver haired legislature to see local groups perform and take pictures and do a story.

I often wondered why a woman who was fit enough to dance and loved it so much wouldn't want to learn more steps. As I began to teach workshops and travel I noticed so many parents and Grandparents that were at every event and beamed when their kids danced. The teacher in me wanted to pull them all into a side room for a quick beginners session.

The more I am around dance, the more I learn how it can be an expression of ourselves. I joke that the longer I clog the less I clog. My teaching style has gone from "watch this" to "let me tell you how to do this." Someone once said "You can dance anywhere, even if only in your heart." Looking back, I realize the joy in granny's eyes whenever she saw clogging made her heart dance like she had won a grand championship. The support of our friends and family for our activity makes them dancers on our team. While they may not tap the floor along side us, they are dancing with us in their hearts and deserve our gratitude and support. Be sure to acknowledge those who dance with your group in their hearts.

Happy Clogging, Jeff Driggs, Editor

Your Article Floored Us...

I wanted to let you know how much I enjoy the Double Toe Times magazine. I have learned much about many aspects of this dancing hobby of mine. I find the articles informative, introspective and entertaining. Your "Front and Center" Editorial is always thought provoking and insightful. I look forward to each issue and usually sit right down and read it cover to cover.

Thank you for the articles on flooring. We have had a hard time obtaining information about the best kinds of flooring for clogging. The article cleared up the vast amounts of misinformation we have been given in the past regarding a good floor. I am looking forward to the next issue.

Tom, Nancy and Lee Coller
Morence, MI

Editors Note:

Thanks so much for reading the Double Toe Times and I am glad you enjoy the articles and that they helped you determine which flooring choice is best for you. Over the Holiday Break, the staff spent many hours of research into new story avenues and articles that will give more information of this type.

Next months issue will feature a comprehensive competition guide with info on all of the national sanctioning organizations and also the non-clogging dance circuits offer clogging categories. We are also planning a series of articles on running a dance studio and keeping your books in order, plus features by many of clogging's most respected instructors on how to choose music, choreograph, market yourself and more.

Footnotes

Your letters, faxes and e-mails

We hope you will continue to enjoy the Double Toe Times.

Choreo 1, 2, 3

I went upstairs after we talked and started thinking about what you said about seeing and hearing footwork in your mind when listening to a piece of music. Here are some things I have learned in the process of writing routines to songs I like:

1. The music has to MOVE you.
2. Count the beats in each section of the song from beginning to end.
3. Determine the verses, choruses, instrumental, and an ending if there is an obvious one.
4. Label the sections A, B, C, etc.
5. When you hear a dance step to a particular part of the song don't worry about whether it's the beginning, middle or end of the song. Seeing the footwork to that part of the song will free your mind and emotions to feel footwork to the rest of the song. It's sort of like doing a jigsaw puzzle. You'll fill an eight count, then a 32 count and suddenly you are done.
6. Lots of times you will have what are known as "breaks" that may be 2,3, 4 or even 6 beats and are different from the main song. They are like bridges that take you from one part of the routine to another. Just treat them like pieces of the whole puzzle and fill them in when the right step comes to mind.

7. Don't choreo against the beat, style sound or feeling of the music. Remember, your feet have now become another instrument and you are adding them to the song like an additional soundtrack.

8. As a general rule, don't turn against the general direction your footwork is already carrying you.

9. If you wish your routine to be accepted and danced, then choreograph at the level of the cloggers in your area.

10. After you SET the footwork, dance the routine with your clogging shoes on if you haven't already. It is quite possible that it will make you want to change a step here or there. If you change it, don't worry about it. Sometimes it comes easy, other times its like a baby -- it takes a little labor to bring it off.

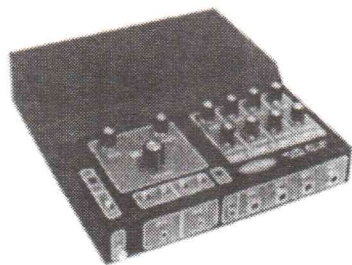

I don't just sit down and say I am going to choreograph to a song suspect that for most of us it just happens. I am a car dancer! I play music going to and from work and the store and listen for a song that "hooks" me. I've done a lot of choreography behind the wheel of my van. I'm a good driver, too!

Virginia Mitchell
Minnesota

Editors Note: Virginia sent this letter some time ago and I had hoped to develop a story series around it where instructors will tell their own choreography techniques. We are finally making it a reality. Beginning in the March issue, we will be featuring your favorite teachers sharing their choreo secrets. Thanks, Virginia, for sharing your choreography tips.

Introducing: The Flatfooter

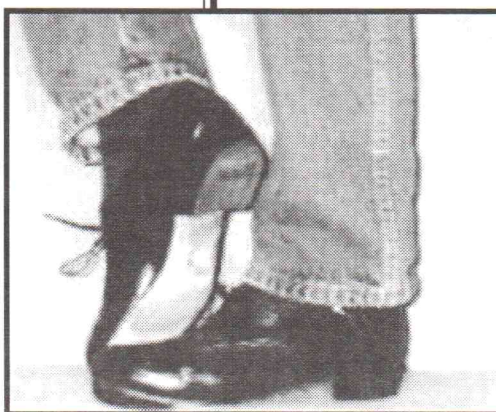

A shoe designed by flatfooters for flatfooters. With excellent support, the Flatfooter shoes fit like a fine pair of gloves. The Flatfooter is made from full grain leather uppers and are quarter lined with pearl pig skin. The Flatfooter shoes are constructed with Micro Cellular foam in the sock lining for shock absorption and to help aid in preventing foot injury. Lined for comfort, built for sound, the dancer can easily incorporate flatfoot technique amongst buck and shuffle steps.

More stable than the common clogging shoe, the Flatfooter is specially designed with a solid heel and low resonant flatfoot sound that can be heard by your audience. You and your team will see an improvement in the ease of dance when you wear these wonderful shoes.

A design by Bob Warner, CCI, culminating years of study through teaching and evaluating hundreds of dancers styles, has brought forth a shoe for the flatfoot cloggers needs.

Paducah Working with Major Clogging Organizations to Establish Museum

Reprinted from the
Paducah Sun
Paducah, KY

Paducah, city of quilts, riverboats and railroad locomotives, will add a new label to its resume: city of cloggers.

The National Clogging Hoedown Council, a division of the National Clogging Organization Inc.; America's Clogging Hall of Fame; and the Clogging Champions of America decided to locate the museum in Paducah during the National Clogging Convention held in late November in Atlanta.

The Paducah-McCracken County Convention and Visitors Bureau made the announcement public in January.

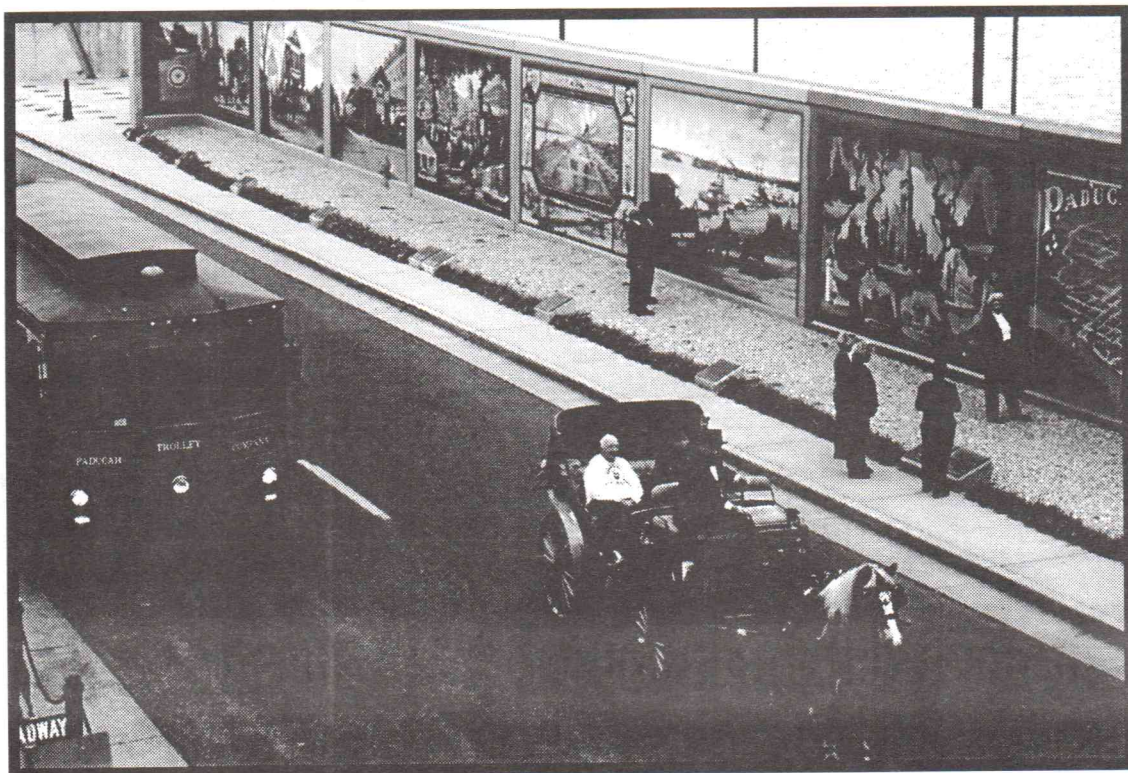

Details on the museum's location and how it will be funded are being discussed. The National Clogging Organization Inc. will hold instructor workshops and regional competitions in Paducah on a regular basis, said Rosemarie Steele, CVB marketing director.

National and international competitions are also being planned.

Ray and Jennifer Hattaway, who represent the three national clogging organizations, visited Paducah in January to meet with local representatives and look for a home, as they plan to relocate to Paducah.

The Hattaways also participated in an official announcement at the Paducah Parks Department, during rehearsals for the Quick Step Cloggers, a local clog dance group.

Paducah's initial contact with the National Clogging Organization Inc. was made last February by Tom Erwin, owner of Annie's Horse Drawn Carriages, at the Spring Fling clogging convention in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

Said Erwin: "Since clogging is such an important part of our heritage in America, (we) felt that a museum would be a great idea to pursue."

Plans are underway to determine funding sources and MaryAnn Moreland of California and other clogging leaders are working to gather info and support for the museum.

Antique cars and motorcycles line the streets of Paducah, Kentucky every Saturday from May through September and families gather to listen to music and dance at the gazebo. The city hopes that the addition of the National Clogging Museum will bring dancers and clogging events to the city.

The 3rd Annual Mid-Winter Hot Dog Clog Hog

Workshop with Big Name Offers Big Fun and Fellowship

The 3rd Annual Mid-Winter Hot Dog Clog Hog at Historic Bowens Mills was a success, drawing in cloggers and other folks from Corunna, MI to Kalamazoo, MI and Ohio. Talk about a beautiful setting to have the 'Clog Hog'. On Saturday morning snow covered the tree limbs and pines as you got into the area. The flakes were big and fluffy. The first thing one sees as you go past the big grinding wheel is the huge gambrel roof barn. It is so big one does not even notice the out of use little ticket house structure one passes as he drives down the plowed driveway.

Getting out of your vehicle and walking up the walk to the entrance at 8 am, one can't help but notice the 30 or so sheep in a fence to the right. They are covered with long wool which in turn is covered slightly with the snow. They are baaing loudly and will do it even more when you yourself baa in mockery back to them. A couple of Shetland ponies, with winter coats long, follow you as you go up the walk. The ponies are on one side and you are on the other side of the fence. Across their fenced in area is a small yard for the big work horses. They stand or move slowly around like giants that they are.

Entering the 'Gathering Place', an arts and entertainment center stuck out in the woods of nowhere, one is struck by the size of the room inside. 70' by 120' in size, chandeliers hang in two rows high from the ceiling. To the left at the south end of the barn is a big stage constructed for cloggers. You have now entered the Mid-Winter Hot Dog Clog Hog. 'Mid-Winter' is the time of the year. 'Hot Dog' in the Appalachians mind is a fancy dancer. 'Clog' is the type of dance and 'Hog' means a lot of it.

The 3rd Annual Mid-Winter Hot Dog Clog Hog started off when Mac McCreery brought our American flag to the stage and all recited the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States. Carleen Sabin, one of the owners of Historic Bowens Mills, was introduced to the people who came.

The event is a fund raiser for The Thunder Floor Cloggers portable stage and expenses. Open to the public, people came in to watch the cloggers or take part in a teach. From the 7 clogging groups represented at the 'Clog Hog', there were 6 instructors on site doing a ton of cueing and there were three routines taught. A small TV was at the back of the room but it looked like only one fellow was watching it. The fellows who didn't dance mostly talked to each other and enjoyed watching the dancers and also listening to the four or five spoon players who had gathered at one end of the stage. Among them was 90 year old Alvina Warner of Lake Odessa, MI.

Everybody seemed to be satisfied with everything they saw. Including Sallie Adkins, who brought her clogging supplies all the way from Columbus, OH. Teachers were Mac McCreery of Grand Ledge, MI; Sharon Chambers, CCI of Richland, MI; Coleen Kirkman of Corunna, MI; Trina Taylor of Lansing, MI; and Bob Warner, CCI of Lake Odessa, MI; and Sallie Adkins of Columbus, OH.

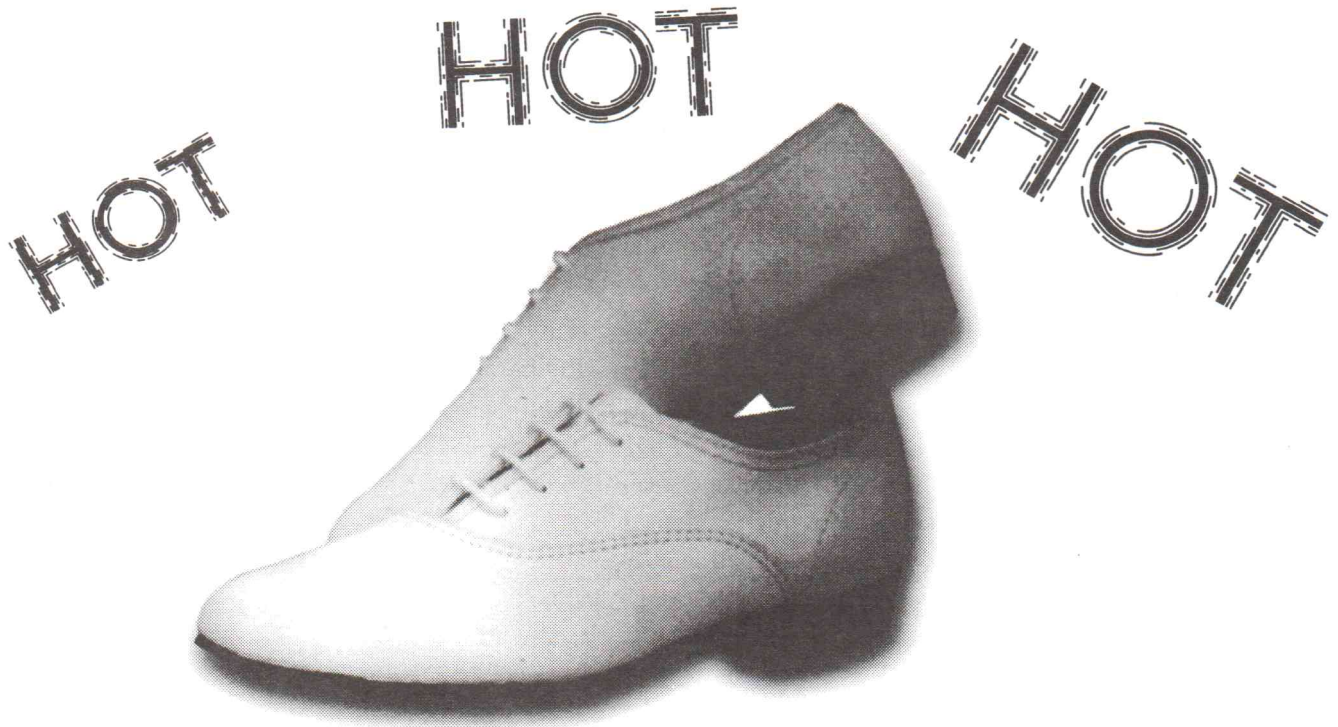

On three tables were dozens of items set for the silent auction that was closed at 4 pm. Businesses donated to the portable stage fund in return for advertisement at shows the Thunder Floor Cloggers have lined up in 2003.

One of the ideas of the 'Clog Hog' is to have a place to gather where it isn't going to cost a dancer or a watcher an arm and a leg. Most places a clogger goes to learn, one has to pay 15.00 to 30.00 and then your eats are on top of that. At the Mid-Winter Hot Dog Clog Hog one goes in there for 6.00 a person, stay all day with no stress and just let the wholesome music and atmosphere relax your mind. It is like a big neighborhood getting together as they did in the past.

From the inside of the Gathering Place looking out of the big 12 paned windows, the view was a picture postcard. One could see the old mill with the big water wheel to the west through softly falling snowflakes. This was the scene all day long. There were folks from about 35 communities and all were having a very nice time. These people came from Corunna to Wyoming, MI- Cedar Springs to Kalamazoo, MI- Stanton to Marshal, MI. Besides the ones from Ohio.

As 6 pm drew close a lot of people had gone home. The ones who stayed sang God Bless America and then helped to clean up the big barn. The Thunder Floor Cloggers are on a mission and that includes getting their portable stage done. They say it has been a long haul. The 'Gathering Place' is silent now. The 3rd Annual Mid-Winter Hot Dog Clog Hog being the last event this winter. The Floor is silent where last Saturday the rhythmic sound of cloggers shoes filled the big volume of air in the building. The laughter is gone. Only the sound of the baaing of the sheep or the whiney of a horse outside can be heard. But next January 2004 Cloggers will again come to the Historic Bowens Mills 'Gathering Place', an arts and entertainment center, and the sound of their shoes will fill the air for one more day of enjoying our county's American Step Dance.

RENO Clogfest International

Both Workshop Dancers and Competitors are Winners at the 4th Annual Event

Hundreds of cloggers from throughout the United States and Canada came to Reno, Nevada over Thanksgiving weekend for the 4th annual Reno Clogfest International. The event features two full days of clogging workshops in all levels, a C.C.A. (Clogging Champions of America) qualifying competition and an exhibition show, all under one roof at the Reno Hilton Hotel and Convention Center.

The event has grown each under the leadership of founder Jan Lee and is staffed by her Biggest Little City Cloggers from Reno.

This past year's workshop was the best attended to date. Featured instructors for the weekend included Eric Bice - CA, Dieter Brown - NC, Jeff Driggs - WV, Josh King - TN, Denny Lantz - OR, Janice Lee - NV, Michele Hill - CA, Jeff parrott - KY, Naomi Fleetwood-Pyle - IN, plus Kellee Hanzel, Lelia Hunsaker, Loni O'Donley and Lenore and Renee Strong of CA, Helen LeCounte and Susan Woods of Canada, Loy Sampels of OR and Kathy Rucker of IN.

The event began on Thanksgiving day with a fun dance featuring West Coast cuers and East Coast iunstructors. The mix of cued routines and fun dances is just right to have the West Coast dancers happy and the guests able to take the floor. The West Coast instructors are great cuers and most started their sessions with what Kellee Hanzel refers to as an "all skate" that most dancers at an intermediate level would recognize the cues to.

Friday offered routines in all levels on hardwood board floors that are laid and joined prior to the event. The massive pallets of flooring are brought in by a hydraulic cart and carried by hand to their places all over the Hilton conven tion Centers ballrooms. The flooring project is hard on the knees, but worth the effort. The floor has a great sound and no "dust."

Friday evening everyone came together to meet the instructional staff and to watch exhibitions by several area teams, including hosts the Biggest Little City Cloggers, the Vegas Valley Cloggers, the Lynx Creek Cloggers, and Janice Jestin and friends in a fun number.

The show also introduced a brand new team called the Sierra Spirit Cloggers, directed by Janice Lee. The team is preparing to enter clogging competitions next season.

With over 200,000 square feet of convention space, the Hilton offers huge clogging halls and vending space. Sound man Ben Goldberg of BLG Designs in California does a great job sounding all of the dance halls and the competition with the latest in sound equipment.

The comment you hear most often from those who have attended the Clogfest International is that the atmosphere of the weekend is light and relaxed and fun and focused on the clogging. That's not to say that clogging is the only dancing that goes on at Clogfest. Each night after the clogging halls have closed down, most of the teaching staff can be found in The Garage, the Reno Hilton's resident dance club and night spot. The cloggers have become so memorable that the band looks forward to them coming each year and the band members even stay after their gig is up to dance the night away with their new heel-clicking friends. Last year, Susan Woods of Canada even took to the stage to teach everyone in the place a little dance she put together that had everyone on the floor!

You are invited to join in the fun! Visit Clogfest on the web at www.clogfest.com or give Jan Lee a call. (NV in Directory)

Cloggers in the Spotlight

Crowd Pleasers

Susanne Roll (74) and Fred Gardner (75) of the Country Crossroads Cloggers of Ohio delight the crowd with a routine to "Papa Joe's Polka" at "Ye Old Mill" in Utica, OH during one of the group's monthly Summer shows. Director Gloria Assenheimer says the pair are always a highlight of the show and perform with more energy and higher footwork than many of the kids clogging! Fred performs in as many shows as he can, when he is not working at Radio Shack -- which he does every Saturday!

Stains of Blue

Live music is coming to clogging next Fall as hundreds of cloggers are expected to return to Fontana Village as part of the 2003 Fontana Clogging Jamboree. Providing the music will be the Grass Stains from St. Albans, WV. Harkening back to the good old days when Bill Nichols, Garland and Tex Brownlee called the square dances, the live music will add a touch of nostalgia and be a first for many new cloggers.

The Grass Stains has a connection to clogging already. Banjo player Bill Bagby is Double Toe Times Editor Jeff Driggs' eldest brother and the little guy pictured on the group's debut cd (center) and fronting the group in the photo is Nick Driggs, Jeff's nephew by his youngest brother Jody and wife Rachel.

The group plays many songs written by Group founder Boyd "Jug" Poff and son Matt, who sings lead vocals. Their sound is described as contemporary bluegrass. From original songs to favorites by groups like Nickel Creek and New Grass Revival to standards like Old Joe Clark and Salt Creek, The Grass Stains' clear sound and bluegrass harmonies will get any clogger's toes tapping.

The group performs at many local area venues and has recently been invited to play at the prestigious Poppy Mountain Bluegrass Festival in Kentucky. If you would like a copy of the group's recording, contact Debbie Bagby at (304) 722-7414.
