FRONT AND CENTER

Check Your Troubles at the Door

The Cowboys Christmas Dance

Winter is here and it aint so nice tendin'
the feeders and choppin' ice.

Nasty weather to stir about.

Cold in the morning's a gittin' out.

Puts a sting in your ears and nose;
gotta watch out or you'll freeze yore toes.

Blowin' your breath on a frosty bit.

Makes you feel like you want to quit.

You like one part of it any way,

That's when you git yore Christmas day.

Plenty of feed and a right good chance to shake yore feet at a country dance.

Fiddles a playin' jest watch 'em go.

"Aleman left an' doce do!"

Don't keer none for the cold and storms.

Dancin' around you soon git warm.

Folks all in from the hills and flats.

Ears tied up onder their hats.

Tough on the horses they drove and rode shiverin' there with their backs all bowed.

It's the only time that folks has to spare
so the hosses had got to stand their share.

You turn 'em out when they git rode down
but you got to keep workin' the year around.

Winter time but it aint so bad.

When it comes around yore sorter glad.

Even though it's nasty weather folks has a chance to git together.

And plenty of folks that was half way mad
found out their neighbors was not as bad

Yes lots of trouble is checked in advance by a sociable crowd at a Christmas dance.

Reprinted with permission from Classic Rhymes by Bruce Kiskaddon

Just goes to show you that regardless of life-style, dancing can bring folks together. I learned to clog at a gathering place that offered live music and people just got up and danced freestyle for hours with square dances mixed in. The crowd was as unique as could be, from the town's business owners to plant workers who danced in bowling shoes so they could shuffle better. When we didn't get enough at the clogging hall, we met at a family's garage they had turned into their own clogging hall called "Studio G." The band was replaced with a record player, but the feeling was the same, because we brought it there. Take time during the upcoming Holiday season to be thankful for the wonderful palette of friends you have in clogging!

Happy Clogging! Jeff Driggs, Editor

You Can Go Home Again

Fontana Clogging Jamborees Mixes the Best of Clogging - Old and New!

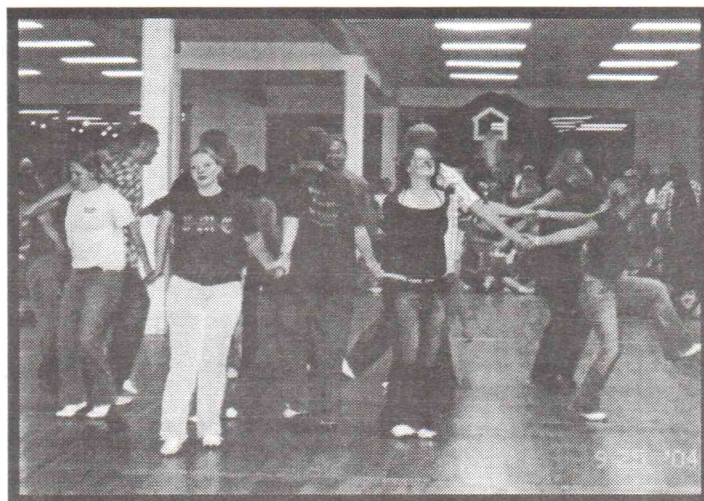

Who says you can't go home again... and again! Hundreds of cloggers from 28 states and Canada ventured up the winding road through the Nantahala Forest to Fontana Village, North Carolina for the 2nd annual Fontana Clogging Jamboree held September 24th and 25th.

Once there, cloggers and their families enjoyed a weekend of clogging and music at a place that is rich in Appalachian history and clogging history. During World War II, 1942 to be exact, the need for aluminum spurred the production of Fontana Dam. In the production of aluminum, electricity is needed in large amounts and Fontana Dam was built to help fill that need. A Village was created to house the five-thousand workers and their families. Almost overnight a small city was built including a school, a church, a general store, a cafeteria, a post office, a hospital, and many sturdy cottages and dormitories. For three years the workers kept construction going 24 hours a day, and in January 1945 the Dam was completed. Later in 1945, the war ended and the Village still stood strong. After the exodus of the workers, a resort was created. In 1947, Government Services Incorporated came to Fontana and began to put together one of the largest and most successful resorts known at the time. Through the fifties, sixties and seventies visitors flocked to Fontana to enjoy clogging and square dancing, boating, horseback riding and many other activities. The existing dormitories and cottages once filled with hearty dam workers were now being rented to tourists from all over America and abroad. During this time, a young man named Bill Nichols and his family came to Fontana and began teaching clogging. The legacy that was started from those who learned at Fontana and those they have taught has become a who's-who of clogging talent.

Workshops flourished at Fontana during the 1970s and 80s. The Smokey Mountain Jamboree, Possum Holler, the NCHC Spring and Fall Meetings and Dennis Abe's workshops and competitions were just some of the groups and organizations that offered clogging until its lapse at Fontana in the early 1990s. After more than 10 years without the sound of tapping feet, clogging returned to Fontana in 2003 and, from the response of the cloggers, it will be around for a long, long time!

The Jamboree began Friday with workshops by Scotty Bilz, Naomi Fleetwood-Pyle, Matt Sexton and Jeff Driggs. The wooden floors at Fontana have just the right finish so that your legs never seem to get tired. It's hard to get folks to quit dancin' at the end of the evening!

Saturday provided workshops in two halls with the Friday night staff, plus Josh King and Gary Larsen. Gary, from Provo, Utah, provided one of the most memorable moments of last year's Jamboree with an amazing a capella demonstration. There was a lively mix of pop, country and bluegrass music in the main hall and challenging advanced dances and a French-Canadian step dance.

During lunch, the workshop once again hosted a "Front Porch Forum" that gave attendees a chance to hear stories from the staff and share their own Fontana memories. Gary Larsen brought some classic video of clog dancing through the years that is part of a research project he is doing. He has amassed a great collection of videos that show the evolution of modern clog dancing. It was fun to see video of Scotty, Tandy and Driggs from the early 1980's and see some real old-time flatfooting from the mountain contests held in the Carolinas.

During the dinner break, the staff, the band, guests and the Texas cloggers in attendance (over 50 of them!) were treated to a Texas-style barbeque organized by Robert Ball and Tracy Hargis of the Dixie Style Cloggers. Charles and Evelyn Cole even helped by bringing up 11 cooked briskets and 34 sides of ribs in their own plane. Others brought beans, slaw, 'tater salad and all the fixins. It was the best food you ever tasted! Showing how much heart the Texas cloggers have, all donations accepted for the food were given to Camp Esperanza, a camp for kids with cancer that the Dixie Style Cloggers have been supporting for more than 16 years. Over the years, they have raised more than $143,000.00 for the program.

Saturday evening's program began with a bluegrass concert by County Farm, a bluegrass band from the Asheville area that has been voted the top bluegrass group in Western Carolina. Joining the group was Andrew Williams from Utah and his girlfriend Lacey Madsen. Andrew and Laci even stuck around to pick and sing on the porch throughout the evening. The crowd was treated to a special performance by the world-famous Bailey Mountain Cloggers from Mars Hill College in North Carolina. The group, led by Jay Ledford, hoe-downed to the live music and had everyone clapping along.

Besides of all this great music and dancing, we were blessed with a perfect Fall weekend to enjoy the village. In addition to the craft shop and fitness center, there is archery, miniature golf, shuffleboard, horseshoes and the swim club with heated indoor pool, video games and more. You can even drop a line in the trout pond. There's no license required. And, as an added feature, you can take them to the Peppercorn restaurant and we'll even cook them for you. You can catch your own dinner!

There's horseback riding, hiking, mountain biking, the marina, and did we mention hours and hours of clogging? All of this sounds like a hyped-up commercial for a remote resort. Well, maybe it is. When you find a place that has this much history and holds such a place in clogging history, maybe I am gushing. I just know that Fontana brings out the best cloggers and brings out the best in cloggers. Plans for the 2005 Jamboree are already underway with more great clogging, live bluegrass music and fun. You can visit the Jamboree website at www.fontanaworkshop.com.

Meet Me in St. Louis

World's Fair Celebration Draws Cloggers to the Gateway City.

When Brenda Newton, an Officer of the Illinois Prairie Clogging Association, answered the telephone one night around the middle of January, she had no idea that a clogging extravaganza would result. On the other end of the line was a Mr. Hudson, who identified himself as the Coordinator of the upcoming World's Fair Anniversary Celebration, which was to recognize the 100th year anniversary of the St. Louis World's Fair, and would be held in the beautiful newly-renovated Forest Park during the first of May. At this celebration would be many different nationalities of dancers, and he was wondering if it would be possible to have "some" groups of clog dancers at the celebration. Knowing that she could contact a number of groups that would probably be interested, Brenda accepted the challenge. Within the next couple of weeks, she and Lindell Webb, the director of her local clogging group, Thunder and Lightning Cloggers of Southern Illinois, met with Mr. Hudson and worked out the details of the clogging exhibitions. Then Brenda sent out letters to various clogging groups in the surrounding States, with 18 groups responding and anxious to join in on the clogging fun!

Now all we had to do was wait for the date - May 1 and 2, 2004, - for two full days of clogging exhibitions on an outside stage at the bottom of Art Hill in beautiful Forest Park. The much-anticipated pleasant sunny weekend finally arrived - although, however, the "pleasant sunny" part was not to be seen. On Friday afternoon, the skies opened up and Forest Park was the site of a "downpour"; which left mud puddles and drizzling rain for the next two days of the outside celebration. However, as the old adage goes, "The Show Must Go On!" and ... as Mother Nature gave the St. Louis area a dose of rain and cold weather, the Clog dancers that drove many many miles to perform did a fantastic job! Not one group cancelled - they all showed up - and despite the weather, we all had a terrific time together. It was very impressive to see all the dance teams that came from all over the Midwest area perform their routines that included everything from traditional country to the more contemporary music. And let's not forget the fans that braved the weather that came out to support the dancers on stage. Family, friends, and teammates should be very proud of the entertainment they provided to all

Take a pack of boys, over a hundred girls in teams, a Hawaiian theme, a group of instructors who will bend over backwards to make things fun... throw in a clog-down elimination dance, a laser dance and pizza party, wild and crazy relay games, swimming, crafts, a carnival complete with dunking booth, deejay, snow cones and cotton candy, and what do you get?... The Clogging Champions of America Clog Camp held at Mars Hill College in North Carolina. The 2004 camp featured teachers Brandon Norris and Shannon South, Heather Kohberger, Jamie Conyers, Kelly Goodpaster, Robyn Shields, Scotty Bilz, Jeff Driggs and Dieter Brown.

Enjoy clogging on hardwood floors, sit on the spacious front porch and look at the grand Smokey Mountains, invite your friends to your cabin for a memorable "Fontana" style after party. Enjoy a weekend of mostly intermediate pop and country line dances, a full traditional program, and evening fun dances like no other weekend of the year!

The magic of the Fontana Clogging Jamboree is the atmosphere. Mostly adults attend, but kids (and kids at heart) are welcome. There is something for everyone here. We celebrate the grand tradition of clogging workshops like we all remember: a grand hall, lots of fun material and great fellowship. In addition, from hiking and fishing, to horseback riding, mini-golf and swimming, Fontana will certainly become your favorite clogging destination too!

A listing in the Double Toe Times exclusive Instructors and Dancers Directory entitles you to list your events, competitions and festivals in the Upcoming Events column free of charge. The Directory is also a valuable source for networking, marketing and promotion. A bullet (■) in front of the Instructor or dancer's name indicates that this person can, and does, promote old-time clogging and traditional dancing.
