FRONT AND CENTER

Both Sides Now

Who hasn't gotten stuck in a rut, even doing the thing you love? After over twenty years of teaching clogging almost every weekend, I can't help but find myself sometimes dreading the long drives or afternoons spent in airports, backaches from hotel beds, and the endless parade of school gyms, hotel ballrooms and recreation centers.

I've talked to directors who found themselves feeling overwhelmed and unappreciated. It's easy to get exhausted trying to haul equipment, keep up with a dozen dancers, music and all of the tiny details that come with what we do.

I recently had to travel cross-country for a weekend workshop. A hectic day at work made it a mad dash to the airport, and I finally settled onto the plane and laid my head against the window, asking myself why I do this to myself every weekend.

A weather front had caused travel delays and the plane rattled through the clouds as we climbed above the storms. A crying baby just added to the feeling of isolation. As the sun began to set, the steward dimmed the lights. No one turned on their reading lights. I guess I wasn't the only weary traveler. When you have had a hard day, its funny how your body won't give in to the rest it needs. I sat wide-eyed and numb, trying to recharge for a weekend of clogging. When you stand in front of folks to teach, they deserve for you strive to be at your best.

The turbulence had not stopped, so I raised my window shade to see if we were actually climbing or if Murphy was serving me a dose of predictable gloom to add to my exhaustion. The gray fog of the storm made it impossible to see, but occasional flashes of light let you know the storm was still all around us. Just as I reached to lower the shade, we broke through the clouds. The setting sun had cast a palette of reds, oranges and purples on the clouds. As we continued to climb, a cloud would block the view again for a moment, and then the sky would open up again to display a huge canyon of colors. The tall billows looked like towers in a mystical world. I looked back through the plane. Most had bowed heads or were tilted against the window in sleep. Even the baby had been rocked to sleep. This show was just for me.

We followed the sunset as we traveled west, and as we climbed higher the tableau changed to a sea of cotton candy foam. Lightning strikes in the distance looked like some cosmic dance floor. It's so hard to describe how just seeing clouds can be emotional and I feel trite looking for adjectives. I just felt tremendously lucky to see something so amazing and beautiful.

I wouldn't have these opportunities without clogging... so many amazing people, places and memories. It's easy to get caught up in the hard stuff and miss the good stuff. Sometimes you have to look beyond the ordinary to see the extraordinary. Sometimes it's right there. All you have to do is look for it.

Happy Clogging, Jeff Driggs, Editor

Overcoming Tragedy to Share the Love of Clogging

Dear Double Toe Times:

Every person has their own story to tell, but every clogger has an adventure. I share my story with everyone who wants to hear it. Having a life-threatening accident and overcoming that to become a grand champion clogger is quite the accomplishment. Here is my story to share with your readers. Thank you for your time.

This is my Story

At the ripe old age of 8, I was in a tragic tractor accident. Doctor's told my parents that I would not survive and if I did, I would be a vegetable, unable to walk, talk, or even perform simple tasks. I proved them wrong after three days of care in the Pediatric Intensive Care Unit (PICU), 12 days of hospital stay with no surgeries, and six weeks in a wheel chair, I was up and walking on my own two feet. I believe that things happen for a reason, and without this accident would I have ever been introduced to or become so passionate about clogging?

I was introduced to clogging at a county fair in my hometown in North Carolina a few months after my accident. I just stood there and watched the cloggers as they danced, all in sync with one another and in rhythm with the music. I was so amazed and taken back at this incredible form of dance. Clogging was a common thing in North Carolina, seeing as that is where it originated. I went home from the fair with dancing not only in my feet but it was in my heart.

My mother signed me up for lessons at the local dance studio in our hometown. I had to audition to even get into this studio. I had never had lessons in dance before so I entered the audition scared and nervous. After performing my routine that my mother and I had choreographed, the instructor asked me how long had I been dancing. I responded to her that I had never had lessons and that performance was the first time I had clogged. Looking at me with shock and surprise she told me that I was more advanced than some of the girls that had been there for a year. After hearing that, it confirmed the feeling in my heart that I was born to be a clogger.

Clogging has given me so many things throughout the 14 years I have been doing it. I have obtained leadership skills, lifelong friends, trophies, great exercise, confidence, and most importantly the drive to overcome any obstacle in my life. Clogging is something that I can share with everyone I see, whether they like it or not. Having the opportunity to continue to learn new things about something I am so passionate about is the greatest accomplishment and gift. Clogging is something that I have and that I will always have to show that I overcome tragedy and turned it into triumph. Clogging is a way that I can express my self and say, "I did this".

I have won several talent competitions, pageants, and even clogging scholarships. I don't only have the self-satisfaction but I also can take home visual memories, such as trophies and plaques to display my love and appreciation for clogging.

Clogging is a part of my past, my present, and my future. I take it with me everywhere, and -- yes -- I even clog in the aisle at Wal-Mart!

Dear Dana:

Thanks so much for sharing your incredible story. You are right that things happen for a reason. I, too, grew up in an area where clogging was very common. I didn't have any interest in dancing as a child, but in my early 20's, when I first tried clogging, it just fulfilled me in so many ways. I know there are many readers who will testify that clogging came to them at a time when they needed it physically, socially and emotionally. Dance has an incredible power. Your bravery and courage and will to overcome your tragedy are inspiring. I am sure that pure joy comes out in your performing. Best wishes to you and thank you for encouraging so many with your story.

Memorial Day Clogging Spectacular Workshop & Midwest Clogging Championships Columbus, Ohio Event Marks 14th Year

The annual Memorial Day Clogging Spectacular and Midwest Clogging Championships celebrated its fourteenth year with its biggest workshop to date and a great competition with over 100 team dances. Hundreds of dancers filled the floor in 5 halls to learn the latest dances, steps and old-time dances from the staff of great instructors. The teachers included Sallie Adkins, Charlie Burns, Scotty Bilz, Mike Curtis, Jeff Driggs, Rob & Sheryl Keller, Matt Sexton, Buzz & Jessie Venhuizen, and many more. In addition to two intermediate halls and an easy hall, dancers enjoyed a traditional hall featuring all old-time music or traditional clogging styles. Another hit of the weekend was the challenge floor with advanced line dances and steps from some of the best dancers and teachers in clogging, including Stan Webb -- director of the champion Clogging Sensation of Missouri, Michigan instructors Brian Tucker and Brian Hendershot, Becca Lee-Roebuck of Tennessee and a high level steps class with Kelle Graves and Drake Elkin. Needless to say, there was something for everyone. The Saturday night fun dance was its usual fun and crazy ride, with a great mix of requests and dances. Workshop and competition dancers seldom mix these days, so it is a great sight to see so many young people out on the floor joining in the fun with the workshop dancers.

Each year, an instructors challenge pits the teachers against each other in a fun show for the crowd. This year, The Amazing Race met American Idol as the teachers had to follow clues to find parts of a costume, then race to the stage -- wearing all of the clues -- and sing a song for the crowd. This years winner was Trevor DeWitt, narrowly beating out Brian Tucker. Another highlight of the fun dance is the "lights out" laser dance where the crowd dances in the dark with hundreds of glowing necklaces, glow glasses, and blinking lights. It's great to see and even more fun to be a part of.

Sunday's competition brought together many of the Midwest's best clogging teams to vie for thousands in awards. New additions this year included a traditional line competition, adult age divisions in all team categories and even an adult grand champion for the day!

2005 Midwest Clogging Championships Winners included:

Shuffle off to Buffalo

well... Grand Island, NY to be exact

By Elaine Brock

Another wonderful Nickel City Clogging Festival was proudly presented by the Nickel City Festival Committee on April 14, 15, and 16. A bright and sunny Spring day greeted the many early birds that arrived Thursday afternoon at the Holiday Inn Resort and Convention Center on Grand Island, New York, by the shores of our mighty Niagara River. Visitors arrived from 13 states, as well as our friends from Canada, in anticipation of another fun-filled Nickel City weekend. The theme for the weekend was "Back to the Country" with a celebration of our clogging heritage!

Activities soon got underway Thursday with a fun night and request songs played in the Settlement Hall. We missed seeing Sandy Holdway, who has run the program in the past, who was side-lined this year due to a knee injury. However, Hanna Dash, Charlie Burns, Brendan McCarthy, and Scotty Bilz did a great job filling in with an overflowing hall of cloggers. Charlie Burns was just amazed at the large number of people who attended the festival a day early and how it just keeps growing. "This is an awesome workshop and the evening which was supposed to end at 10pm, continued on, as the cloggers just kept on dancing!"

The Western New York Cloggers Association gave a great big welcome to these featured national instructors; Sallie Adkins, Ohio - Scotty Bilz, Georgia - Charlie Burns, Kentucky - Mike Curtis, South Carolina - Jeff Driggs, West Virginia - Shane Gruber, Michigan - Jim Naylor, Quebec - Missy Shinoski, Missouri - and Jill Gunzel, Arizona. Also lending their talents to this impressive group were our own regional instructors; Dale Burl, Hanna Dash, Tricia Profic, Michelle Rohring, Melissa Sawyer, and Lynda Vaadi, all of New York State. Workshops began bright and early Friday morning and continued throughout the day as the almost 550 cloggers hurried back and forth to find in which of our 5 dance halls their favorite instructors had a class. What a selection - - beginner through advanced dances, plus seminars! Jim Naylor, teaching here for the 3'd year, commented, "There is something here for everyone, a great size festival, enough halls for a variety of levels of dance, and wonderful hospitality for all the instructors." Shane Gruber told us, "The Shane gang is here in full force - - our turnout is so good that I cancelled my class at home - - because most of us from Michigan are here! I am happy to be back and to be a part of the great staff at this fun weekend." The hotel was again busy with the hustle and bustle of many check-ins and the variety of vendors setting up shop. While busy putting taps on shoes, Sallie Adkins informed us, "I have had a few major changes in my life - - got engaged in July to Richard James - - and we have both enrolled in the American Institute of Alternative Medicine to become licensed massage therapists. We will be able to "take out the kinks and unclog you all" at workshops! As always, it is great to be with my New York friends and family, and it wouldn't feel right if I wasn't able to attend. Everyone will be invited to the wedding when we announce it!" Our congratulations and best wishes to you and Rich, Sallie! Friday evening found two halls open for a Trail-In dance highlighting our national instructors and a Request Hall staffed with our local instructors. Later in the evening a pool party was held exclusively for cloggers and their families to enjoy. Anyone with time to spare could visit the nearby outlet malls, museums, spend some time at the Casinos, or just do some sightseeing of our famous Niagara Falls.

A special moment for the Nickel City Festival was the presentation of the 5th annual WNYCA Hall of Fame awards, which purpose is to recognize individuals who have significantly contributed to the perpetuation of clogging at Nickel City and in the Western New York region. This year we were proud to recognize Scotty Bilz, Richard Hawker, Sue and Larry Zilliox, Elaine Brock, and Ricky Morosey, who have all made many contributions of their time and talents to Nickel City and clogging in our Western New York area. Congratulations to these outstanding and very deserving individuals! Special recognition goes out to David Profic, this year's winner of the WNYCA scholarship, and also to Tricia Profic, from the Tonawanda Clog-Hoppers, who received the Phyllis Antos scholarship. Congratulations to both of you, and good luck with your schooling.

Saturday morning the halls were again filled with cloggers busy greeting other dancers and again selecting which workshops to attend for the day. Every level of clogging and every type of music were again available to be enjoyed! All the vendors were doing a brisk business, while door prizes, and 50/50 and basket raffles were available to anyone who wanted to -try their luck". A new feature which began last year, our door poster contest, exploded with entrants this year. Floor after floor held many colorful and original door decorations. The variety and originality made it so difficult to choose winners. Finally, first place was awarded to Elaine Fritz, Naomi LeMasurier, and Suzanne Richard, from Ontario, Canada, and second place was won by Gerry Brigman and Judy Schirmacher, from the Horseshoe Cloggers in Pennsylvania. Great job to all who joined in the fun and made our treks back and forth to our rooms so very entertaining! Many dancers also took a stroll down memory lane as they visited the history and photo display of past Nickel City Festivals set up by Bonnie Linhardt for all to enjoy.

As the Saturday workshops concluded it was on to a wonderful country style buffet with bluegrass music supplied by a local popular band, "Creekbend", followed by fun and relaxation with team exhibitions, hilarious instructor games, and more clogging. Very entertaining clogging performances were put on by the Almost Kickin' Rhythm Cloggers, Backwoods Cloggers, Backwoods Saplings, Capital City Cloggers, Clog-Hopper Crickets, Kickin' Rhythm Cloggers, Simcoe County Cloggers, Still Kickin' Rhythm Cloggers, Tonawanda Clog-Hoppers, and the All Western New York team - - Tensational. And, of course, Jeff Driggs, who is always a crowd pleaser, also kept us entertained all weekend with his hilarious antics and imitations - - he always provides a comedy

- traditional program, and evening fun dances like no other weekend of the year!
- The magic of the Fontana Clogging Jamboree is the atmosphere.
- Mostly adults attend, but kids (and kids at heart) are welcome. There is something for
- everyone here. We celebrate the grand tradition of clogging workshops like we all
- remember: a grand hall, lots of fun material and great fellowship. In addition, from hiking
- and fishing, to horseback riding, mini-golf and swimming, Fontana will certainly become
- your favorite clogging destination too!

Nickel City Fest.

Scotty Bilz noted that he travels to many conventions worldwide and he has been convincing people to come to Nickel City. "It is so pretty here - - this workshop is the Jewel of the East Coast - - it's Southern hospitality in Yankeeville!" Jeff Driggs added, "To me the strength of the Nickel City Festival is the committee with its attention to detail. Everything runs so smoothly and everything is so well received. You all put on a good show!" Mike Curtis, with his first teach here, was surprised that it was not as cold here as he expected. He could not get over how excited the kids were about clogging which makes it so very easy to teach. On her 2nd year here, Missy Shinoski also noticed how the people just love to dance, learn quickly, and have lots of energy. Jill Gunzel, with her very first visit as a national instructor, remarked, "I just love this place, the atmosphere is so relaxed, the people down to earth, and everyone here is having such a good time!"

Many, many special thanks go out to Ken and Linda Haley and all their hard-working committee people, volunteers, and all the participants who did a fantastic job coordinating this year's festival. This event would not be a success without their service and dedication. Thank you to all who attended and supported our Nickel City Festival!

Next year we will see a return of the Saturday night show with "Party Time" as our theme.

It will also mark the 20th anniversary of our festival and will be held on April 6, 7, & 8, 2006, again at the Holiday Inn, Grand Island, New York. Be sure to mark your calendars! You are all invited to join us for another exciting weekend, and a very warm welcome awaits you!
