FRONT AND CENTER

Whadda YOU Lookin' at?

I recently was traveling home from a clogging trip and invited some friends to follow me down the backroads to the interstate to see some of the beauty of the state that I had visited so many times in my clogging travels. The young couple seemed excited about a shorter way and I was happy to show them a more scenic route. As we drove down tree-lined roads and past breathtaking views, I would slow down at certain points to take it all in. Looking in the rearview mirror, I could see my friends looking straight ahead and peering at my car as if to say, "what are you slowing down for?"

Maybe it's me. I can be driving down the road with a whole car full of people and see a herd of deer beside the road and say "Hey, look at all of those deer!" and everyone in the car will say, "I don't see any." I was at a roof top restaurant on the 4th of July and saw fireworks over the heads of my friends facing me and said, "Look.. fireworks!" They all turned around for the next five minutes waiting to see the fireworks that -- of course -- no longer happened.

It's sorta like the clogging experience. Maybe it's a stretch, but I see so many people go to workshops or competitions and not have a good time or leave with a bitter taste, when they missed all of the good stuff going on all around them. Some people might say that it's easy to say "We just come for fun" at a competition when you are used to not winning anything. But I am at these events weekend after weekend and see the same people who spend their hard-earned money again and again to take their families to clogging events. If all you gauge the success of the trip on is the trophy won at the competition or the attention you got at the workshop, then you will be disappointed more than you will be fulfilled.

When it comes to competition, the younger the kids are the more they get it. They like to win, but most of the time they get just as excited about the free stuff they throw during the YMCA or getting to do the Cha-Cha Slide onstage. They see the weekend for what it is... a great time with friends. They "SEE" it when most of us can't and they don't even know why they do. It's like the deer at the side of the road or the fireworks. Everyone has the same opportunities for the same experience. You don't have to look harder, the good stuff is all around you ...just choose to see it.

Happy Clogging, Jeff Driggs

Clogging Instructor Charlie Burns retires from Possum Trot Workshop in California a quarter of a century of teaching great clogging

This year's annual Possum Trot Clogging Workshop was a celebration of good times, good clogging and great fellowship for cloggers from throughout the West coast. The annual event was also a celebration of the talents of Charlie Burns, who marked his last Possum Trot this March.

Charlie has been slowing down his workshop schedule the last few years to spend more time with his family and nurture a growing family business. Charlie still teaches a few workshops a year and is a partner in the annual Lake Cumberland Spring Workshop at Lake Cumberland, Kentucky with Trevor and Stacy DeWitt and a partner in the Memorial Day Clogging Spectacular in Columbus, Ohio.

The coordinators of the Possum Trot workshop worked throughout the year to make this year's workshop really fun, memorable and a relaxing visit for Charlie. Large scrolls were made that everyone could sign to send their wishes to Charlie and reminisce about good times and favorite Charlie stories and memories.

During the weekend's program, an easy chair was placed on the stage to give Charlie the seat of honor and the best seat in the house to enjoy the exhibitions and fun dance.

It was a real surprise to Charlie and a treat to all of the cloggers when a live bagpipe group played the tune "Bagpipes" while the crowd danced Charlie's choreography to this favorite.

Responding to all of the love and attention, Charlie said "I have loved every minute of it and wish I could go back and do it all again."

Middle: Charlie with Lenore Strong.

Bottom: Eric Bice cues and Missy and Kellee dance along to "Bagpipes."

ALL THAT Rocks the House

Clogging group ALL THAT rocked the house in episode 3 of the NBC series "America's Got Talent" garnering praise from the judges and a tremendous ovation from the crowd.

This is not the group's first brush with celebrity. The group appears nightly in shows at the Carolina Opry in Myrtle Beach, SC and has appeared on Dance Fever, Star Search, 30 seconds to Fame, the Jerry Lewis Telethon and more.

In an article by Prentiss Findlay in Clifford's hometown of Charleston, SC, Clifford spoke of the group and their high-energy style of clogging and percussive dance.

'We're breaking out of the barn and breaking into the streets. It's kind of urban funk,' Clifford said.

'All That' beat out 40,000 contestants to land a spot on the show. Much of the eight-week competition is taped, but the last few episodes in which the audience votes on the winner are live. The network prohibits the group from discussing how he did in the taped competition.

For Marie Clifford, his mother, not knowing how her son did on the show is not easy. 'I'm in a dither. He's been real secretive. I wish he'd tell me a little more of what's happening,' she said.

Simon Cowell, the sharp-tongued judge on 'American Idol,' is producing 'America's Got Talent.' Regis Philbin is the host. The judges are singer Brandy, actor David Hasselhoff and British TV personality Piers Morgan. Combining celebrity judges with viewer voting is the formula for 'American Idol,' which turned Cowell into a household name.

12.4 million watched America's Got Talent in its debut slot, marking NBC's strongest Nielsen performance in the Wednesday 9-11 p.m. time slot since April 2005, excluding the network's Winter Olympics coverage this year, according to the AP.

The AP notes that it had a better series debut than American Idol did four summers ago, as it was watched by about 9.6 million people.

Among viewers 18 to 49, ratings "[were] 84 percent higher than the NBC average for the same time period last summer, and 44 percent above its tally for that slot all last season." The AP reported.

The group, consisting of Kenneth Fithen, Delohn Collins, Mike Curtis, Mark Clifford and Brian Staggs will return to Hollywood on July 6 to continue their quest for the 1 million dollar prize.

Celebrity judged David Hasselhoff told the guys they had a chance of winning it all, singer Brandy said they were amazing and even hard-to-please judge Piers Morgan said he hated the group... "because every woman in America would love them!"

Now that the auditions are over and ALL THAT has made it through to the contest, it will be up to the public to vote to make the guy's dreams a reality and to make clogging more popular and better known.

Group member Delohn Collins said if the audience and judges are behind you the sky is the limit... Check your local listings and watch the guys continue their clogging journey.

Hoedown Island with Richard Jett, Slade, KY

One of the best clogging destinations I know is Hoedown Island in Slade, Kentucky. Richard Jett has been hosting hoedowns on the island for dancers and tourists for decades and is a national treasure. On Fridays from May 26 to September 1 and on Saturdays from April 29 to October 28 you can dance under the stars at this historic spot from 7:30 to 10:30 pm. Exhibition teams show their steps each weekend and special guests lead the dances when Richard can't be in town. Richard's slogan is "a goioid time will be had by all!"

Cloggers in the Spotlight

Clogging named official state dance of Kentucky

by Jack Brammer, Lexington Herald Leader

Gov. Ernie Fletcher politely declined to kick up his heels after he signed into law yesterday a bill that makes clogging the official state dance.

Instead, he let about 12 young people from Owsley, Clark, Bath and Montgomery counties demonstrate the spirited dance.

"Clogging has become part of the culture in rural Kentucky. We plan to promote it even more," said the bill's sponsor, Rep. Ted Edmonds, D-Jackson.

The idea for the bill, he said, came from the fifth-grade class of teacher Amber Raleigh-Allen at LBJ Elementary School in Breathitt County.

LIGHTS, CAMERA, CLOGGING!

Actress, dancer and screenwriter Julia Fowler of South Carolina has written a script that New Line Cinema will be making into a motion picture sometime this Summer! Entitled "Possum Trot Cloggers" Fowler's script revolves around a woman who's thrown off a clogging dance team by her two-timing boyfriend-coach. She then scrapes together a ragtag team to compete for the national clogging championship, finding love along the way. The story is set in Fowler's hometown of Gaffney, S.C., where she's been a championship-level clogger. Several cloggers, choreographers and teams have been approached about the project and a well-known Hollywood director has been chosen for the project. Barnyard Nickelodeon Movies is releasing a film this Summer entirely in CGI that will feature clogging! The Barnyard is a hilarious look at what really happens in a barnyard when the farmer's back is turned. "Barnyard" is a lighthearted tale centering around Otis (voiced by Kevin James), a carefree party cow, who enjoys singing, dancing and playing tricks on humans. The movie includes the clogging feet of Brian Bon and Jeremy Stoddard of California.

A Gift for You for Your Students

The Double Toe Times is proud to help you recognize the hard work of your clogging students to complete a series of classes by giving you a supply of "clogging diplomas" to hand out at your graduation night. The diplomas are on glossy paper stock with a colorful diploma design that features a clog dancer, a place for you to sign, and the following wording:

Diploma of Graduation
This certifies that has satisfactorily Double-Stepped,

prescribed for graduation and is therefore awarded this
