To the Readers Stormin' Norman

This past year, the clogging world lost a true character... a one of a kind gentleman and a friend to many. Norman Suite, 86, of Lexington, Kentucky passed away and many who were connected to clogging competition recognized him simply as "Bryce's Dad." Norman and his wife Cheryl always supported their son's clogging and Norman was a fixture at clogging competitions cheering on the teams his son danced on, most recently the award-winning Clogging Sensation of Missouri.

I first met Norman when his son was just a young fellow and first entering competition. Norm pulled me aside to tell me that I needed to do more to encourage young men to dance and offer age divisions that were fair to younger dancers. And while he had my attention, Norman shared a laugh and a joke and another joke and another joke. As Bryce grew up, I always looked forward to Norman's suggestions and his stories. A WWII Navy veteran, Norman had a way of cutting through the small talk and getting right to the heart of the matter. When Bryce began entering duos, he suggested honoring each duo category's champions for the skill needed to be top in their class and not just the overall champion. He was right.

Author Philip Caldwell wrote, "Successes have many fathers, failures have none." In our classes, workshops, teams and dance endeavors we are often inundated with input. From the trivial to the tremendous, I am never surprised by the ability of parent's and grandparent's to express their expectations when it comes to their loved ones. Sure, it is easy to forge ahead with our well-thought agenda thinking, "Whose railroad is this?" or "Who is gonna pay for all of this?"

But I can say that, almost without exception, those suggestions shaped in some way every new course I have taken in my clogging.

Most of us are quick to honor the roles our own parents have played in our lives and the advice they gave us that shaped who we are as adults, even if it wasn't until we reached adulthood that we realized it.

I want to thank you, Norman, for being a part of my success... both in clogging and in the ways you touched my heart. You are missed.

Happy Clogging, Jeff Driggs, Editor

Dancing the Dream

Clogger Marcia Campbell of Tennessee Celebrates 25 Years of Dancing on the stage of the World Famous Grand Ole Opry

An exclusive interview by Jeff Driggs, Double Toe Times

Clogger, square dancer, musician and radio personality are just some of the many hats worn by Tennessee native Marcia Campbell, who is celebrating twenty five years of dancing on the world famous Grand Ole Opry.

From her earliest memories of dancing in the kitchen with her Granny humming "Ole Joe Clark," Marcia always felt a deep connection to old time music and dance. It is fitting then that after starting to clog at an early age, she was given the opportunity to dance on the most famous and hallowed stage in the country and traditional music world.

I traveled to Nashville in November to interview Marcia and also bluegrass musicians/dancers Cherryholmes and got a call that a fill in dancer was needed for the Opry that night. I borrowed shoes from a friend in town and was thrilled to find that Marcia would be my partner for the evening. I have been blessed to dance on the Opry stage several times throughout the years, with Ben Smathers and the Smoky Mountain Cloggers, with the Melvin Sloan Dancers and also with Bubba Richardson and the Opry Square dancers. On several of those occasions I have had the honor of dancing with Marcia and I can tell you that she has a heart for dance, for the traditions of the Grand Ole Opry and for the Opry family.

Family means much to Campbell. Her mother Joyce is her biggest fan and her father Bobby always encouraged her to follow her dreams. A musician, singer and songwriter, she and her husband are parents to two sons, Brandon and Casey. "I love spending time with my boys around the house playing music, as a family," Campbell said in her bio for the radio program she hosts on Sirius radio. "We write songs together and it doesn't take much to have a jam session in our living room almost nightly. I have been so blessed in my life with wonderful opportunities, a great family and friends, but being "Mom" is the coolest gig God has given me! My boys, Brandon and Casey bring so much love and joy to my life".

I sat down with Marcia in a small side room in the wings of the historic Ryman Auditorium to talk about clogging, the Opry and her milestone year.

DTT: Congratulations on twenty five years of dancing on the Grand Ole Opry! What an amazing achievement. Tell us how you got started clogging.

Marcia: Thank you! I first got interested in clogging when I was six years old. I went to a birthday party and the Robert Spicer Dickson County Square dancers were at the party. I remember dancing in the kitchen with my Granny, and seeing them I thought, "I know how to do that," and I got up and did a little soft shoe with the group. Afterwards, Mr. Spicer approached my parents and said that he could make a dancer out of me, and they offered him their best wishes (laughing). I joined the group and soon was performing and competing and have been dancing ever since.

DTT: How did the time line go from those early experiences to your connection to the Grand Ole Opry?

Marcia: I did some tours with the Tennessee Flatfooters, led by Ted and Millie Heavner, and continued to dance with Mr. Spicer's Dickson County Square Dancers. At the age of twelve, my friend Danny Bell (who was already dancing on the Opry regularly with the Melvin Sloan dancers) asked if I would fill in for one of the girls for an Opry performance and I said absolutely. I danced on the Opry stage that night in October of 1984, then in February of the next year I turned thirteen and was asked to become a permanent dancer.

DTT: And twenty-five years later, here you are! I know that are a lot of great memories. Is there one that sticks out in your mind over these many years of performing?

Marcia: Oh yes. During my teenage years I got to see so many of the greats: Minnie Pearl, Grandpa Jones, and so many others. Those times and photos and memories are things I really cherish. Also, I have enjoyed bringing people out on the floor with me from time to time.

DTT: That seems to be a Marcia Campbell calling card, coaxing Opry stars onto the stage for a little buck dancing or square dancing. Who are some of the personalities you have brought onto the dance floor with you to kick it up over the years?

Marcia: Steve Wariner, Marty Stuart... tonight

Lorrie Morgan joined us onstage. Vince Gill as well. I always try to talk one of the guys into being my dance partner. Daryl Worley, Buck White, Vince Gill and Patty Loveless have danced with us as well.

DTT: Who has surprised you with their dancing ability?

Marcia: Hal Ketchum. He is a great dancer!

DTT: I know you teach clogging as well and have had some notable students through the years.

Marcia: I have been very honored to have students like Reba McIntyre in my classes, as well as Aaron Tippin and his wife Thea, Janie Fricke and Kelly Pickler. They wanted to add elements of dancing to their shows. It's all about entertaining.

DTT: In addition to adding dance to their shows, you have lent your talents to some artist's projects by using your feet as an instrument. What are some of the recordings you have danced on?

Marcia: The very first was Dolly Parton. As you said, I got to dance as a rhythm line in the music. Then I got a call from Ricky Skaggs and got to dance on one of his records. Leland Martin and Everett Lilly are others who I have worked with in that way. My husband made me a dance floor of soft wood with a handle on it and I just carry it to the studio along with my dance shoes and I have each of the people I have worked with sign it. The Everett Lilly project "Everybody and Their Brother" won "Recorded Event of the Year" at the IBMA (International Bluegrass Music Association) Awards last year. Everyone who participated on that project won an IBMA Award, so it was really an honor to be a part of an award-winning album.

DTT: Having grown up around traditional music and dance, you have parlayed that passion into a radio career. Tell us about that.

Marcia: I have a radio program on Sirius 147 / XM 171 working with Dave Nimo Entertainment on the Road Dog Channel – also known as the trucking channel. I have made wonderful friends who travel the roads, working hard every day and often struggling but they definitely keep America moving. I am honored that they invite me into their homes and places of work and truck cabs to listen to some jokes, good music and just fellowship together.

DTT: Clogging has grown and changed a lot over the last twenty five years and in the last few years has seen a great deal of exposure on television for the modern styles of clogging. What do you think of the way in which clogging has evolved over the years and the balance between traditional and modern clogging styles?

Marcia: I think it is absolutely fabulous! With the teams and dancers who have appeared on television in the last few years it has brought a great deal of recognition to clogging and I can't help but feel excited for what it does for the dance. I may not know the ladies from Utah (the Fab 5 sisters from Utah who appeared on last season's America's Got Talent) but it is so exciting to see clogging elevated to such a worthy place and in a national medium. I think it is fantastic.

DTT: Looking back over twenty five years now of dancing on the Grand Ole Opry, what does it mean to you every time you step out on that stage?

Marcia: I still get nervous and I look forward to this so much... the stage, the spotlight, the sound of the wood... every week. It never gets old. It is always a new experience. I have made so many friends among the Opry family and I am so thankful for those relationships. I think that's what I love and is what is really close to my heart. It isn't just the spotlight and the dance. You look to the left and the right when you go out on that stage and you have friends and family who are there watching you perform and I look forward to that each and every week.

DTT: To all of the dancers who are reading this interview, who practice every week and aspire to someday do the things in clogging you have done, what advice would you have for them?

Marcia: Never stop. And, any stage is big enough. It may be the competition stage, it may be a workshop stage, it may be the Grand Ole Opry stage... it doesn't matter. Don't ever think that a stage is too small for you.

DTT: Great advice! Marcia, thanks so much for taking the time to talk to the readers of the Double Toe Times and congratulations on your twenty-five years of performing on the Grand Ole Opry and we wish you many, many more!

Marcia: Thank you!

HICKORY HOEDOWN FIDDLER'S CONVENTION & CLOGGING FESTIVAL

by Jill Kirby

On November 20-22, 2009 cloggers and bluegrass enthusiasts invaded Hickory, North Carolina on what turned out to be an amazing event, and a real good time! People came from over 15 different states to learn in workshops, participate in contests, and listen to the sounds of tradition and heritage both at the event and the Fun Dance! The event was hosted by A.J. and Jill Kirby who are Directors of the Sims Country Cloggers and Jill is also the President of the NC Clogging Association, who also cosponsored the event. One of the highlights of the event was the participation from dancers nationwide like the following:

"We all had such a fantastic time at the Hickory Hoedown that we are all planning on returning next year," said Elaine Brock, of the Western New York Cloggers Association. "We have even recruited more cloggers to come with us! We loved the large number of halls offering such a wide variety of classes, seminars, etc. We had a hard time deciding which of them to attend! We also loved the fact the fiddling and banjo competition was offered at the same time as the clogging workshop. What a great place for the "non-clogging" husbands who were with us, to be entertained. I even slipped away from clogging a few times & thoroughly enjoyed the singing & playing in the competition. The evening barbecue certainly topped things off. We were all invited to join all the freestyling activity on the floor and we loved it!"

The staff at the event was made up of several national and local instructors. Classes were offered in traditional and contemporary clogging as well as specialty classes such as Irish, swing and hip hop. There was something for everyone. One of the special parts of the weekend was the Friday night Fun Dance which was held at Sims Country BBQ, A.J. and Jill's family's restaurant, located in the country, right next door to their dance studio.

"I had an absolute blast at the Hickory Hoedown," said Naomi Pyle, a national instructor on staff from Columbus, Indiana. "As you can tell by looking at me, a lot of it was about the food and wow you treated us to the best barbecue ever!" "Now about the workshop... I thought you guys did an awesome job in organizing such a big event and my teaches went well and the dancers were so much fun."

Next year's event is being planned for November 19-21, 2010 at the Hickory Metro Convention Center. It's an affordable event so make your plans to attend now and you can still do other clogging events without blowing a budget on this one! DVD's, music CD's and Syllabi are available from this past year's event and will be for 2010's as well. Check www.clognc.com for updates on staff and schedule!

The Blended Project

The Blended Project of West Covina, California became the youngest and largest crew to ever be featured on Randy Jackson's America's Best Dance Crew on MTV when they were part of the West regional competition on the show this season!

The group was founded by Valerie Ramirez in 2001 and is made up of 8 dancers with different backgrounds, ages and ethnicities who have a common love for dance and footwork. With their roots in clogging, they added taps to their sneakers to mix clogging footwork with other dance forms in a mash of styles they call "blending."

America's Best Dance Crew is not the group's first brush with fame. They made it into the top twenty on season 3 of America's Got Talent, performed on the 2009 World of Dance tour, and were one of the top five finalists in the Kiis FM Summer Dance Crew Competition. They also helped opened L.A. Fashion Week with their performance at Fashionminga at Boulevard3.

ALL THAT on the Fast Track to Fame

Cloggers ALL THAT took time away from their performances at the Carolina Opry at Myrtle Beach to take first place in the March 8 premier of the SPEED channel's new talent competition show "Fast Track to Fame." The guys now move on to the two-show season finale, with 10 finalists going head-to-head to determine the ultimate winner. SPEED viewers will get the chance to vote online for a "fan favorite" to compete in the grand finale episodes.

Practice Music & Cued Routines for Clogging

This CD contains 4 great old time bluegrass songs that will get your hands clappin' and your toes tappin'. Old Joe Clark is recorded with a starting tempo that is very slow, then every 64 beats there is an 8 beat tempo change that speeds the music up just a little. This is a great track for teaching beginner classes, working on new steps or styling. Old Joe Clark is also included in a full tempo version.

The other tracks on this CD project are renditions and medleys of old time tunes with routines choreographed by Jeff Driggs of West Virginia and Naomi Pyle of Indiana. Cue sheets for these dances are included in this insert.

A Gift for You for Your Students

The Double Toe Times is proud to help you recognize the hard work of your clogging students to complete a series of classes by giving you a supply of "clogging diplomas" to hand out at your graduation night. The diplomas are on glossy paper stock with a colorful diploma design that features a clog dancer, a place for you to sign. Just drop us an email or letter, fax or letter to let us know how many diplomas you will need. Please make sure you allow at least 2 weeks to make sure we can get the diplomas to you through U.S. regular mail. Canadian and foreign readers allow 4 weeks.

These diplomas are not made available for resale to vendors, and are intended for use by clogging teachers to provide to students only. You must be a subscriber to the Double Toe Times to be eligible. To order for your classes, write or email us:
