footprint Starting Over

Sometimes things happen that make you stop and ask yourself "What else can go wrong?"

The Doubletoe Times has had quite a time the last couple of years. We have gone through printers in three different states and worked through postal issues and delivery issues and tried to catch up on issues that had fallen behind. This January issue being printed and delivered in January has been a huge relief to me.

In the Fall, I made some major investments to make the Double Toe Times more timely and more cost effective to produce. With postal rates rising more than 30% and printing costs doubling in the twelve years since taking over production, we have only raised the subscription price once at less than a 5% increase. The lease on the purchase of the magazine ended last year and after more than five years of major losses, I knew I needed to find ways to cut costs and increase production and put out a good product in a timely fashion to keep and gain readers.

I purchased a new computer for the office and new software that will help with the layout and production of the magazine, and I actually negotiated a lease on a printing press that will allow me to print the magazine myself, saving weeks of production and shipping delays.

With a new computer in place and all of the files from the old one save to a laptop and removable drive, I reformatted the old computer so it could be passed down.

Not wanting to fill the new computer with tons of old files, I took the laptop and back up drive to a workshop to use the extra time to sort through files and delete unneeded data before transferring.

During the weekend, I left my backpack for a short time to watch some good friends during the fun dance and returned to find the backpack had been stolen.

All of my files were gone. All of the Double Toe Times layouts and past issues. Our subscriber database. Ever photo I have ever taken. Every cuesheet I have ever written. All gone.

After the shock of being so violated, I have beaten myself up for not doing more to back up the data in multiple places and have begun the task of trying to get back what I can from looking through attachments to saved emails, and manually reentering every subscriber from the paper forms we save for our audit.

It will be a long process, and I hope you will be patient and help us to bounce back from this setback.

Happy clogging! Jeff Driggs

CORE CLOGGING SKILLS

Miss North Carolina Adrienne Core Wins Preliminary Talent at Miss America with Clogging!

Miss North Carolina Adrienne Core was named preliminary talent winner for her clogging performance during the first night of competition of the 2011 Miss America Pageant at Planet Hollywood Resort & Casino in Las Vegas.

Core, a 2010 N.C. State University graduate and a native of Erwin, North Carolina, received a $2,000 scholarship for the achievement. She hopes to earn her master's degree in mathematics education at North Carolina State University.

"It is very unusual. ... It's more of contemporary clogging, more than the traditional clogging you would be used to," Core said. "It is to 'Soul Man' from the Blues Brothers, so that's also a different twist on clogging." Adrienne worked with clogger Mike Curtis on her final choreography for the number. Curtis is a member of the clogging group ALL THAT, who were finalists on "America's Got Talent," and have appeared on many television shows and talent contests and who now perform regularly at the Carolina Opry in Myrtle beach, South Carolina.

Core is the daughter of Beverly Core and the late Charles Core, who died of cancer. Core competed in memory of her father, Charles, who died of cancer when she was 18.

"He was such a strong part of my life that I wanted to take that experience and share that with people," she said. "Cancer is not always something that is sad, but we can give hope and inspire people to live every day, every second of our lives to the best of our abilities." To honor him, Core supports the V Foundation, educating people about the importance of cancer research.

While studying at North Carolina State University, Core was president of the NCSU Wolfpack Clogging Team. The team began in 1989 under the direction of Marsha Lester and first performed at a women's basketball game in the university's Reynold's Coliseum. From that point on, the team has been a highly recognized and respected organization on campus. The team currently competes under at events that are sanctioned by the A.C.H.F. (America's Clogging Hall of Fame) competition circuit, and recently traveled to Las Vegas to compete at the C.C.A. (Clogging Champions of America) Las Vegas Invitational. In addition to competitions, the team has been very dedicated to community service in Raleigh, North Carolina and surrounding areas.

Core will be joining forces with the Wolfpack Clogging team to host the 2011 V Foundation 'Clogging for a Cure' competition, to be held on June 4, 2011 in the Raleigh Convention Center in Downtown Raleigh. The competition will be C.C.A. sanctioned event and all proceeds from the competition go to the V Foundation for Cancer Research. If you would like to donate to the V Foundation, or would like more information about the "Clogging for a Cure" event, please contact Donna Walker at events@missnc.org or current NCSU Wolfpack Clogging Student Director Derek Starnes at ncsuclogging@gmail.com.

The pageant finals were held on January 15, 2011, with Miss Nebraska 2010 Teresa Scanlan from Gerig, Nebraska being crowned Miss America 2011 at the Planet Hollywood Resort & Casino in Las Vegas.

Cloggers stay fit, have fun on stage

By Anthony Todd Carlisle, Post Gazette

Pat Loehr, dressed in red and white with a Santa hat, urged the crowd to shake, clap, sing and dance with the Mon Valley Cloggers as they entertained shoppers at a West Mifflin Mall near their Pennsylvania hometown.

"Come down and sing with us," Mrs. Loehr urged shoppers on the second floor of the mall who looked down on the group as they performed on the stage in front of Macy's.

Mrs. Loehr's husband, Cliff Loehr, director of the cloggers, said singing is not this American folk dance group's forte, but this year, members decided to include vocals in their Christmas performance. In the group's rendition of "Up on the Rooftop," Mr. Loehr provided the "ho, ho, ho."

"We are more dancers than singers, but we manage," Mr. Loehr said of the clogger group he and his wife formed in 1992.

About 10 hoofers danced to several Christmas songs such as "Christmas Time's A Coming" and "Jazzy Jingle Bells." Mr. Loehr said the well received Christmas performances at the mall are used to educate people about the art of clogging and to attract new members to the club.

Starting in January, the Loehrs offer free beginner clogging at a studio at their home in Elizabeth. Those who decide to continue will be able to take 10 weeks of lessons.

Since the dance group's founding, Mr. and Mrs. Loehr have trained more than 150 dancers and performed in more than 670 shows, including county fairs, school festivals and senior living facilities.

Mr. Loehr, who describes clogging as "mountain style tap dancing," said the dance started in England and made its way to America's Appalachian region. Clogging, in which shoes with taps are worn, is marked by the general up and down motion of the body in rhythm with the beat of the music.

Mr. Loehr and his wife have been clogging since the 1980's when they were members of Norm's Mavericks and Keith's Grasshoppers, two Ohio-based groups. Then Mr. Loehr's employer, PPG Industries, transferred him to Pittsburgh. Unable to find suitable clubs, the couple started their own.

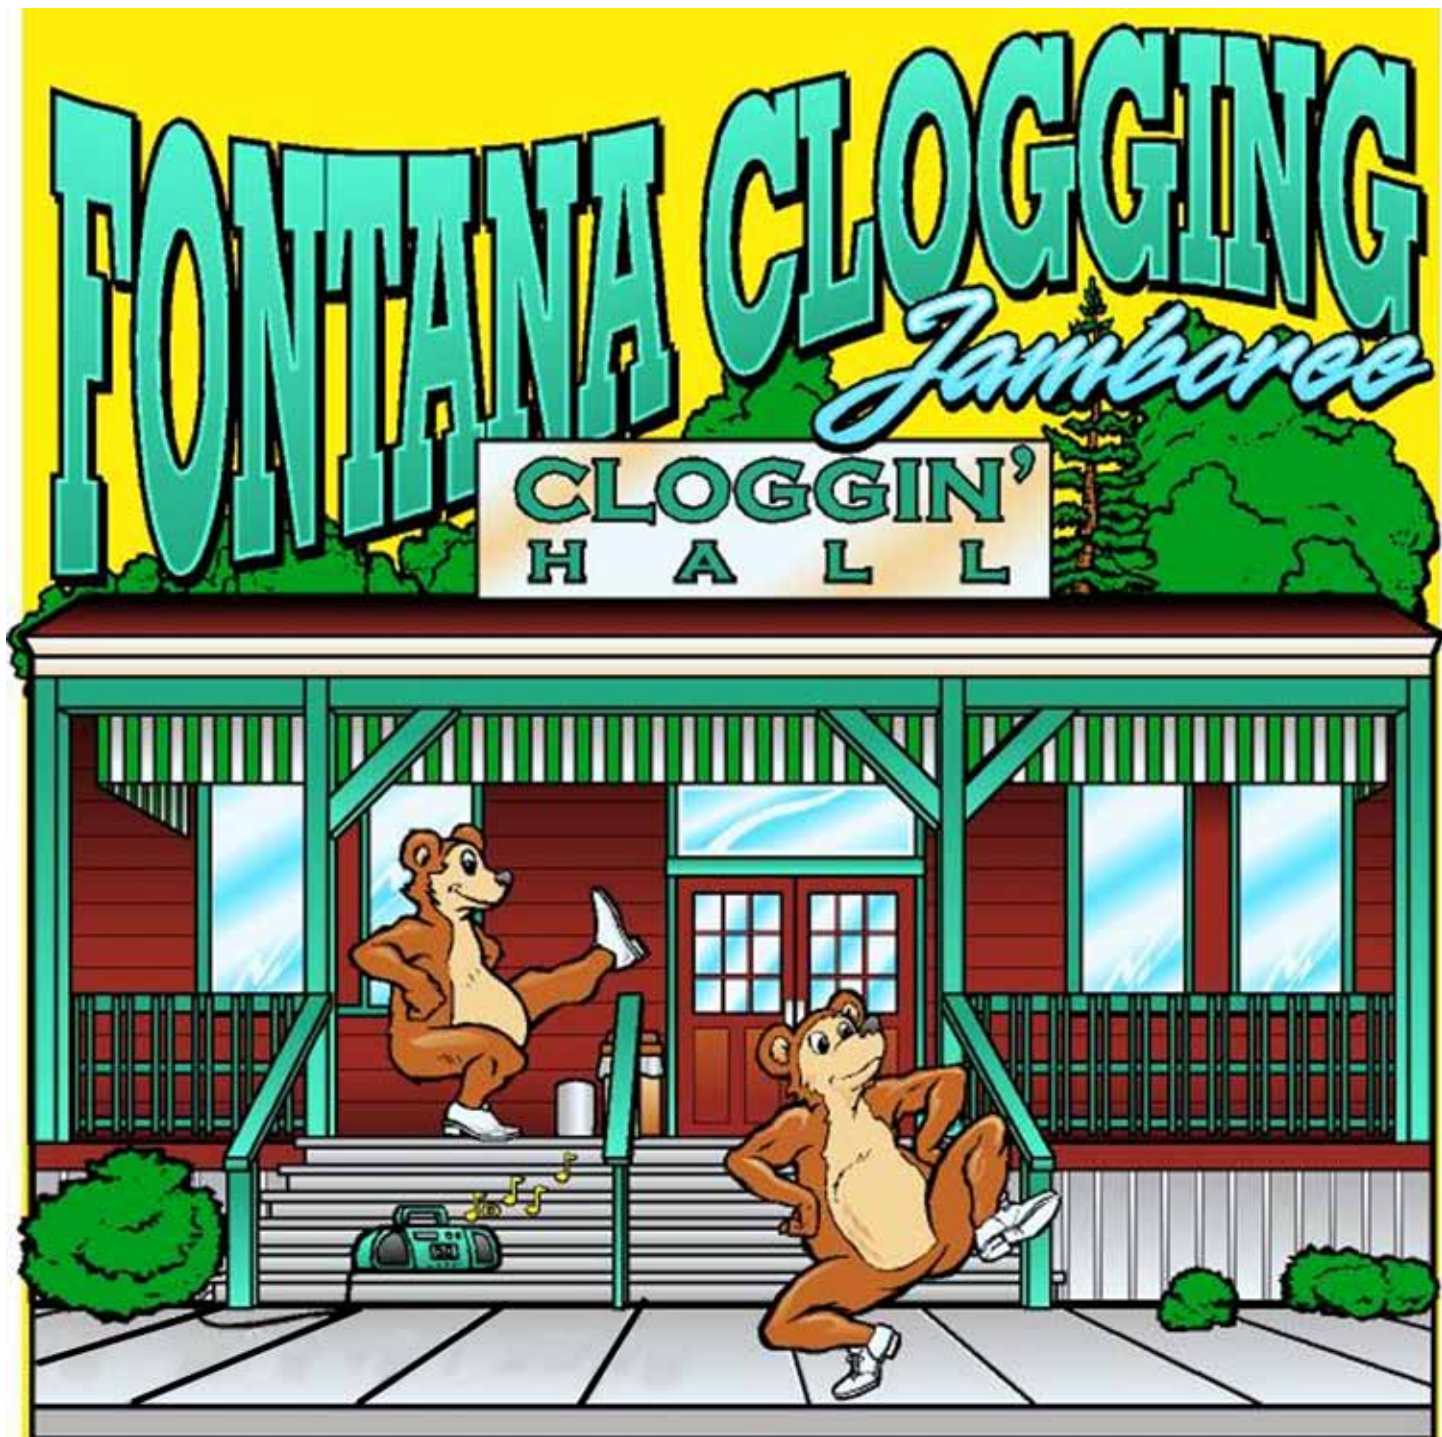

"The reason I got this group together is because I love to show off, and I think everyone in my group likes to show off," Mr. Loehr said.

The Mon Valley Cloggers has about fifteen members. The oldest dancer is 89 and the youngest is 11. Most are in their 50's and 60's.

Clogger Peggy Rattay, 68, of Monessen, said she and her mother, Margaret Poprosky, 89, have been dancing with the Mon Valley group since 1993 after they saw the group perform in a

FONTANA VILLAGE • NORTH CAROLINA

September 23 - 24, 2011

Come experience a weekend unlike any other!

Great National Instructors, the world's most famous oak clogging dance floor, live bluegrass music and much more! Nestled in the Great Smoky Mountains, Fontana Village has a rich history in square dancing and clogging. Steps like the rockin' chair were invented at this very place. Now you can come and experience the magic of this place for yourself!

festival in West Newton.

"My mom said we ought to take lessons, and we did and we loved it," Ms. Rattay said. "It's addicting, and it's just fun. We get to make people happy. Also, this group gets to be like a second family."

Mr. Loehr, a retired chemical engineer, said it's been difficult to recruit new members, especially men. In the early 1990's, his group had 30 members, allowing them to do more shows. For example in 1994, the group did 74 shows in one year as compared to the 20 shows they did this year.

"Recruiting new members is the biggest problem," Mr. Loehr said. "Here, in the Pittsburgh area, men just don't think it's macho to dance. In the surrounding states, you will oftentimes find more men on the dance floor than there are women. Over the last 18 years, I've only had seven dancers -- and that counts me -- who are men."

Mr. Loehr said that other states, such as Ohio,

West Virginia, South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, have a huge clogging following. Mr. Loehr said this traditional dance has seen an increase in popularity nationally because of cloggers performing on television shows such as "America's Got Talent." Still, Mr. Loehr is not sure if Pittsburgh will one day become as crazy for clogging as it is for its professional sports teams.

Mr. Loehr said the group often pays homage to those iconic Pittsburgh sports teams by dressing in gold and black. .

But for their holiday shows, members were in red with Santa hats as they clogged to Christmas songs. Angela Cross of Pleasant Hills watched the show with her daughter Caitlyn, 5, and son Ian, 2, who rang bells handed out by the cloggers.

"I thought they were a lot of fun," Ms. Cross said. "The kids love it. This is great unplanned entertainment."

Near the stage, Mike McDonald, 3, of Clairton also danced along. His parents, Dan and Lynn McDonald, were so impressed with the show that they joined.

"I've never seen this type of dancing before ... this is real nice," Mr. McDonald said.

A Gift for You for Your Students

The Double Toe Times is proud to help you recognize the hard work of your clogging students to complete a series of classes by giving you a supply of "clogging diplomas" to hand out at your graduation night. The diplomas are on glossy paper stock with a colorful diploma design that features a clog dancer, a place for you to sign. Just drop us an email or letter, fax or letter to let us know how many diplomas you will need. Please make sure you allow at least 2 weeks to make sure we can get the diplomas to you through U.S. regular mail. Canadian and foreign readers allow 4 weeks. These diplomas are not made available for resale to vendors, and are intended for use by clogging teachers to provide to students only. You must be a subscriber to the Double Toe Times to be eligible. To order for your classes, write or email us:
