"Singing in the DARK"

I recently had the great experience of attending the 60th anniversary presentation of the classic musical "Singing in the Rain," during a one night only theatrical engagement at a local theatre.

We had just recovered from days without electrical power in the aftermath of storms that swept the Midwest and region with a fury that no one was prepared for. Shortly into the film, the screen flickered and then went black while the audio continued. The crowd of mostly baby boomers let out a collective groan. Whispers began to circulate that a satellite feed was responsible. As quickly as it went to black, the screen suddenly flashed with faint light then the picture was restored.

Over the next 15 minutes or so, the pattern repeated and the picture was lost and regained several times. Right at the first steps of the number "Good Mornin'" the picture faded and the film stopped as the house lights went up. A theatre employee entered and announced that a projector bulb had failed and that it would take about 15 - 20 minutes to fix it but they would rewind the picture to before the first blackout and continue. Those who did not wish to stay could meet him at the door to receive a complimentary pass to attend a different show at another time.

I was amazed at how many people gathered their things and made for the exits.

Those of us who stayed spent the interlude talking about the film that brought us together and how great the classic looked on a big screen. When the lights dimmed and the movie restarted with a newly found brightness and seeming vigor, the appreciative crowd cheered and shared in the simple pleasure of watching this movie that held such fond and personal memories for each of us.

We live in a time of instant gratification, lightning speed information, short attention spans and bars that have been raised to levels that give very few the chance to share their talent without being received with much more than acknowledgement. Like the popular talent show, America has talent, but is most always chided with an expectation to "give us more!" and "show us something we have never seen before."

Sometimes simply seeing something in a new light can renew in us the sensations that made us appreciate it in the first place.

Our dances melt, our music and cultural tastes evolve, but I am so happy to be reminded that there is something really very satisfying about the familiar.

It is worth preserving. It is worth celebrating, and it is worth waiting for.

Happy clogging! Jeff Driggs

LOVE THEM FOR SOUND!

Stevens Stompers®

Stevens Stompers® Taps
were designed by Cloggers for Cloggers.

Made from steel, Stevens Stompers® Taps have a snappy, musical sound:
"musical instruments for your feet".

*They are "BIG SOUND" Taps.
One of our customers said:
The sound is "able to reach up to the top row of a stadium".*

Big, musical sound -- that is what you get with Stevens Stompers®.
These outstanding percussive sound qualities are why more cloggers choose our taps for practice, performance and competition than any others.

Kentucky Sisters Appear on Nickelodeon Game Show

by Mary Barczak
The Richmond Register News

Clogging is an activity Lauren, 11, and Kaylee, 15, Thomas of Berea, Kentucky have enjoyed for most of their lives. But, they had little expectation when they began that their talent would eventually land them a spot on the popular Nickelodeon show "Figure It Out."

The sisters performed on the show in a June broadcast on the Nickelodeon channel. Lauren started clogging when she was 3, and Kaylee started when she was 5.

The game show features Nickelodeon stars who try to guess what a guest's talent is. For each round the stars cannot guess a contestant's talent, the contestant wins prizes such as a bike or a Nintendo DS. But regardless of whether the stars guess their talent, the contestants still get to perform their talent.

About two months earlier, Lauren said she saw an advertisement on Nickelodeon's Facebook page asking kids to submit their age and unique talents. Not too long afterward, her mother received an email saying the show wanted her to send a video of her daughter clogging.

"We thought they wanted a modern look," Lauren said.

But the show officials were interested in more than that.

"They wanted to know where she performed," her mother, Lana Thomas said.

"We told them that was our basement with all the trophies, and they responded saying, 'Did she win all of those by herself? 'No her sister dances with her.'"

The family sent in another video with both of the girls performing. A few days later, while Lana was in Walmart her cellphone rang.

"It was really funny we were in Walmart, and

Kentucky Sisters Appear on Nickelodeon Game Show

couldn't find Mom for the longest time, and then we found her in the baby aisle talking on the phone," Lauren said. "We were like what are you doing, and she said, 'You're going to LA,' and I was like, what!"

Kaylee was just as excited to hear about the trip.

The girls had never been to Los Angeles, and they enjoyed their time there, going to Disney Land and going on a star tour. Then, it was time for their show.

The girls said security was really strict onstage while the show was recorded. They wouldn't even let any one go to the bathroom by themselves because they were afraid some of them might try to taunt the contestants.

"I was like, Mom, you can't go crazy," Lauren said.

Customarily, talent acts on the show are individuals, so the Thomas sisters are an exception.

Kaylee said she had a great time in Los Angeles.

Lauren said she was starstruck to be on the stage.

"I guess I was so nervous," she said.

Lana said Lauren has always wanted to be on TV and movies.

"She's been asking since she was in kindergarten to be home-schooled and move to LA."

After the show, the girls got to meet and take pictures with their celebrity panelists.

The Thomas girls met at a local restaurant to watch the show on the big-screen TVs with friends and family.

Photos: Top: Kaylee and Lauren have been champion cloggers from many years and have won hundreds of trophies and awards.

Nickel City Clogging Festival

Ending of an Era... A New Beginning!

By Barbara Elko and Elaine Brock

One of the clogging world's biggest and longest running festivals celebrated the ending of an era in Grand Island, New York with plans for even greater things to come. 586 registered cloggers plus family members arrived from over 20 U.S. states, along with clogging friends from four provinces in Canada, all anticipating another fun-filled Nickel City weekend! This 26th year milestone began April 19th with the celebration of many years of great memories, and the announcement of the start of a new clogging chapter. The weekend's theme was, "Until We Meet Again," a nod to the preparation to move to a new enlarged location at the Adam's Mark Hotel in downtown Buffalo, New York next year!

You do not have to travel to the pyramids of Egypt to experience one of the wonders of the world. The Nickel City Festival is a workshop marvel! Somehow, year after year, the organizers of this event divide and conquer any problems that occur, and the result is a weekend of clogging bliss. The faithfulness of past attendees, along with the newcomers, filled the convention hotel and beyond. We applaud and thank all those volunteers who laboriously put together this fantastic workshop for the pleasure of hundreds of cloggers.

The Western New York Cloggers Association gave a great big welcome to these featured national instructors; Scotty Bilz, Jeff Driggs, Shane Gruber, Morgan Hudson, Matt Koziuk, Paul Melville, Naomi Pyle, Missy Shinoski, Chip Summey, Judy Waymouth, and Barry Welch. Lending their talents to this impressive group were guest and local instructors; Herb Brock, Shirley Brown, Aliccia Clark, Tina Curtis, Jo Ferrier, Monique Martineau, Andrew Perry, Jason Pflugh, Tricia Profic, Tracy Rozewicz, Cheri Truax, Lynda Vaadi, Kim White and Colleen Zurbrigg.

Matt Koziuk started Friday morning with a circle mixer to "Barnyard Hoedown." As expected with any mixer it started in total chaos, but with Matt's patience, the end result was great! "Moves like Jagger" choreo by the FAB FIVE and taught by Naomi Pyle, Chip Summey, and Scotty Bilz, was what we have come to expect... outrageous!! This dance has so many motions even Mick would be impressed. Judy Waymouth also taught a beginner's class to "Moves like Jagger," so everyone had the Mick move! Tina Curtis was on board teaching for the first time and entertained and challenged her class with "Papi." "5-1-5-0" was a very popular song this year - - so much so that it was taught at every level. It was comical during the evening fun dance when the song was played there were four different versions being danced at one time!

Missy Shinoski answered an often asked clogging question, "Why are mixers and hoedowns disappearing from workshops" by teaching a fun hoedown. There is nothing better than a bunch of confused couples in a circle having the time of their lives and laughing together! Armed with a "sweeter than Carolina barbecue" smile and an equally flavorful southern accent, Chip Summey's classes are always a good time. Jeff Driggs teach of "Take Me Home, Country Roads" had everyone wishing they were from his native West Virginia, and Colleen Zurbrigg's "Barefoot on the Blacktop" teach had everyone "Walking the Dog and Cat" out the door after the class! A problem for attendees of any workshop of this magnitude is deciding what classes to take, and understanding that you are not able to attend all the classes. When over six hundred dancers heading home satisfied and unable to choose which routine to teach their club first, the Nickel City Festival and its staff of instructors did an amazing job!

Saturday evening, after a classic western buffet, a large audience was entertained with great exhibitions - - enjoyable performances were presented by the Combination Cloggers, (featuring the well-padded Dolly Parton portrayed by Morgan Hudson), Northern Explosion Cloggers, Kickin' Rhythm Cloggers, Chapel Cloggers Dance Team, Amy and her Backup Dancers, Shane Gang Cloggers, Backwoods Cloggers, Kickin' Rhythm Kids, TNT Cloggers, Tensation Cloggers, and a group of dancers performing an interactive routine by Jeff Driggs that included inflatable feet and hands and oversized sunglasses. The group learned the routine during the workshop and performed it that evening. Saturday night's exhibitions were highlighted by "Amy's got Talent!" Amy's performance to “Bit by Bit” was outstanding and brought tears to many eyes. The best part of watching her is seeing the joy she has while dancing. Congratulations! Amy was the “Belle of the Ball!”

Nickel City always has so much to offer its participants. Games for the weekend included a “Step Duel at High Noon,” in which dancers were challenged to remember a string of steps that grew longer with each run-through. The duel continued until two lone dancers “dueled” to see who could remember the steps. Melissa Gretzler remembered the sequence of steps the longest, without cues, to come in first place, and Kaitlyn Cichocki came in a close second. The “Catch the Bandit” hunt was also very unique. “Wanted” posters were displayed throughout the hotel featuring instructors and local cloggers disguised as bandits. Winners coming in with the most Buffalo nickels (obtained upon identifying a bandit) were Tanner Truax, Noah White, and Ayden Haley. Featured “Outlaws” whose likenesses appeared on wanted posters were Scotty Bilz, Herb and Elaine Brock, Jeff Driggs, Shane Gruber, Bekka Gunner, Matt Koziuk, Monique Martineau, Paul Melville, Dave Profic, Missy Sawyer, and Kim White.

The winners of our “workshop themed poster contest,” with an awesome entry, were the Pioneer Cloggers. Also, great posters were entered from the Backwoods Cloggers and the Erie Canal Cloggers. Also on hand were 50/50 daily drawings, and cloggers could try their luck with chances on the many beautiful wine and clogging baskets. Thanks go out to Dawn Grasso, one of our Canadian friends, who graciously donated her winnings from one of the 50/50 drawings to our local “Ride for Roswell”, which benefits cancer research. Special recognition was also given to Adam Zientak from the Backwoods Cloggers for receiving honors as the WNYCA scholarship recipient of the year. Congratulations, Adam and good luck on your future education!

Very many special thanks go out to Ken and Linda Haley, Hanna Healy, and all their hard-working committee people, volunteers, board members, and all the participants who did a fantastic job coordinating and attending this year’s festival. A big thank you goes out to all who attend and support our Nickel City Festival!!

The Nickel City staff will be moving the entire workshop to the Adam’s Mark Hotel next year and will feature the theme, “Mardi Gras at the Mark.” We look forward to celebrating our very first year there and the beginning of a new era of Nickel City Festivals. All the fun commences April 18 through April 20, 2013, with another exciting Nickel City Festival weekend. We’ll be looking for you!

DANCE WEEK

August 5-12, 2012

World renowned callers, dancers and musicians keep everyone happy and on their toes as Augusta swings to the beat of Dance Week!

High energy tunes by dance bands will rock Augusta's open air dance pavilion into the wee hours! Choose from workshops in tango, salsa, Irish set dance, hip hop, body percussion, flatfooting, dance calling, playing music for dances, running sound for dances and the African roots of American dance.

On the porch of Halliehurst mansion, beginning at around 8:15, come waltz your way into your day. There is no instruction, it's just a magical way to begin the day. Each late afternoon students may select optional special workshops listed with Vocal Week or Old-Time Week. Dances, concerts, films and special presentations offer an array of evening choices. Several dance locations on campus afford everyone a varied choice of dance styles. Dance Week runs concurrently with Old-Time Week and Vocal Week and extends through the Augusta Festival, August 10-12.

“World” “Class” Clogging

World of Clogging Event Offers Classes for all Dance Levels from Many of Clogging’s Best

Clog dancers from all over the Eastern United States gathered in Cincinnati, Ohio over Memorial Day weekend to be a part of the 22nd annual World of Clogging Workshop.

The event began on Friday with workshops featuring clog dance instructors from the local area, as well as Florida, Indiana, Nebraska and New York.

Fun dances brought all ages together and Saturday evening and all day Sunday are competitions for clogging teams, solos and duo/duets. The categories show off the best of the traditional styles of clog dancing, the percussive dance form that grew out of the dances brought to this country by our European ancestors and became a melting pot of dances with influences from the American Indian, African American rhythms and more. The contemporary styles of clogging are done to all types of music, from fiddle music to Lady Gaga. “It is amazing to see the level of footwork that clogging incorporates today,” said Jeff Driggs, event coordinator. “It is also great to see the workshop and competition worlds share an event.”

Clogging has received a new level of acceptance and recognition in the dance world, and cloggers have risen to the highest ranks in reality dance shows, including America’s Got Talent, So You Think You Can Dance and America’s Best Dance Crew. Percussive group “ALL THAT,” who are competing in this season’s America’s Got Talent, came together at the event to work on their routine, and surprised the workshop goers with a performance Saturday night. ALL

THAT member Joel Harrison was an instructor for the workshop and dancers from the South Florida Cloggers, who came all the way from the “Sunshine State” with Director Rebecca Stone Vetter were thrilled to meet the guys and learn from Joel. Friend and fellow instructor Naomi Pyle joined in the class as well!

For information on next year’s event and to see photos from this year’s World of Clogging, visit the event’s website at www.worldofclogging.com.

TIPS ON BEING A GOOD MASTER OF CEREMONIES

GREAT IDEAS FOR GOOD EMCEEING AT AN EVENT

By Ron Hodge

Reprinted from the Texas Clogger Publication

Preparing an article on being a good Emcee takes me back in time about 25 years, when the Yellow Rose Cloggers of Houston, Texas had been booked for a company out of California to perform in the Houston and Dallas areas for their trade shows.

The company used professional actors from the movie industry in their events so while Yellow Rose was performing, I was handling the microphone work for the team as normal. "As normal" is the key phrase. I was terrible... though I was doing what I had always seen done before by others. The professional Emcee took me aside and spent a lot of quality time to change my total style. We worked closely together and for the next few days I had a hands on training lesson on many of the tips as to what makes a good ... and bad ... emcee. We worked for that same company about three years.

In the following article, I will share some ways that will guarantee your success as an emcee.

"It is an honor to be asked to be the master of ceremonies at a function or for a dance team. It means that you have a sense of humor, know how to project your voice, and can handle audiences. It means that you have the gift of being able to "think on your feet" so that you can react quickly in an emergency. "Preside with sincerity, energy and decisiveness. Take your audience on a .pleasant journey and make them feel that all is going well".

The Master of Ceremonies is responsible for ensuring that the program/event runs smoothly, runs on time and that all important people at the event are introduced in a complimentary, professional manner. Being a successful Master of Ceremonies requires, preparation, a friendly manner and ability to adjust to/ad lib as necessary to ensure a successful event. The single most important element for the MC is to control the tempo.

Be prepared.

While you can plan well, things can run amuck.

Be aware that this can happen and have a possible strategy to address problems that might occur. The ideal MC is resourceful, creative, flexible and able to respond to problems "on the fly".

The emcee needs to be at the event early. It will take time for an emcee to prepare. Know who is the contact...speak with the contact personally to insure you fully understand their needs. Have those needs changed?

Know the schedule of the event.

Know the name of the group that will precede and follow the group you are the emcee for. If you are using a sound system that has been provided speak with their sound people. Get their business card.

Walk about the event...know what is going on, interview people, what is available that should interest the audience. Speak with the vendors...learn about their products. This is all information you can use during your transitions.

Get off to a Strong Start. Don't fumble for an opening.

Smooth transitions are a necessity.

Have a "working" relationship with the person handling sound. They are not to expect to wait for you to say start the music...rather they should start the music when the dancers are prepared. The two of you should be communicating... without saying a word.

A proficient emcee realizes the importance of transitions and handles them with ease. Transitions don't need to be lengthy. THEY SHOULD NOT BE LENGTHY. The show is not about you and what you can say. Do not sound like a preacher. Use your voice as an instrument. Keep the attention of the audience... with your voice. Even if they do not understand English you should be able to keep their attention using only your voice.

TIPS FOR MASTER OF CEREMONIES

It is the emcee's job to keep the program moving on time.

Tempo is everything to a good show. While on this topic...I have to mention that there are very few songs that deserve to be played in their entirety. Encourage whoever is responsible for music and choreography to cut the songs in length.

There is not much you can do if they refuse to make those cuts, just keep mentioning the idea to them. If you are watching the audience you will know when a song is beginning to lose the interest of the audience. Dancers will be the last ones to know that a song has just gone too far...so you may need to just let them know.

Consider, if you are doing a 30 minute show and play every song the entire length how few songs can be put on the floor. By cutting the play time of each song more material can be put in the same time...and at the same time you leave the audience wanting more. Once a song passes 2 and half minutes it is time to look for a place to cut it. It is already but lived the interest of the audience. It will be your responsibility as the emcee to keep everyone on time.

Before you start, tell the dancers if you will be rushing the transitions between the numbers... or if you will have to "stretch". As the emcee, keep your comments as short as possible.

Tie It Together

Talk about the group that appeared before the one you are the emcee for...talk about the group that will follow. Talk about the sound people...if they are a DJ business tell people their name. Discuss the event, its purpose, its history.

Of course you have permission to be funny. Don't get yourself in trouble! Close the event with as much enthusiasm as you opened with.

Remember that being asked to be the emcee is an honor

Yours is probably the most important function of the program – keeping every part moving smoothly. Take it seriously, prepare well, and be proud of the part you've played, and you will be asked again and again. When it comes to being a polished Master of Ceremonies there is no substitute for experience.

Take every opportunity that you can to speak at events. In addition, prepare and practice for every event.

To learn how to be even better watch people that you think are skillful as speakers and MC's and analyze what they do and how they do it. Then try to emulate the things you think will work for you.

A good emcee is hard to find, so be one!

"The perfect M.C. makes the audience feel they have profited from attending the function, and that they have also had a good time".

MORE EMCEEING TIPS

Be Enthusiastic – Your Attitude's Contagious!
Infect the crowd with it!

Be Proactive – As the Programme Controller, you're IN CHARGE! You're the bridge between everyone (audience and speaker, speaker and organiser, organiser and timer etc). Know what has to be done and make sure it gets done.

Be Early – Reach the event venue before the first guest arrive so that logistical and technical (ie: microphone tests and the sound system) matters can be ironed out. Also, meet and discuss your concerns (if any) regarding anything that you think needs to be done. Arriving early will also give you time to settle down and observe and analyze the crowd to help you adapt your style later.

Be Professional – Do not eat, drink, or smoke on stage. As the Emcee, you're part of the face for the event. The audience will not get a chance to see the backroom staff and technical assistants. As mentioned, you are the glue for the event. Maintain the decorum and leave a positive image for everyone to carry home. If you've got to eat, drink, or smoke, do it where nobody can see you!

Be Prepared – Know the programme and prepare notes if you must. Memorise the sequence of events if you need. No. It's best if you memorised it! You're allowed to hold some cards or the programme sheet or cue cards in your hand. But do not attempt to read from the script which you've prepared the night before!

Handling Apologies – Understand that mistakes may (and WILL) occur from time to time. Apologize and move on. Keep your cool and get on with the programme. There's no need to freeze or apologize profusely. The audience aren't there to hear you apologize, they're there for the programme!

UNCLE DAVE MACON DAYS

Don't rest on your heels when it comes to buckdancing fun Old-time dance hard to explain, easier to do

by Mealand Ragland-Hudgins, News Journal

MURFREESBORO, TN — Ask Thomas Maupin to explain what buck dancing is and his answer may confuse you at first.

"It's hard for me to explain what I do. The music just tells me what to do," he said. "Everyone will do it a little differently. The only way you can do it wrong is to dance out of time with the music."

Buck dancing is an old-time form of solo dance in which relies heavily on the balls and heels of the foot. Though some people can be taught, Maupin said, it's mostly an individual style of dance.

Maupin, along with friends Jay Bland and Ruth Alpert, led a buck dancing workshop under the gazebo at Cannonsburgh Village during Saturday's session of Uncle Dave Macon Days festival.

Now 73, Maupin has been dancing all his life, learning from his grandmother, who lived with his family in Eagleville.

"My grandmother was an old lady. She'd dance barefoot at home and I learned by trying to pattern my sound after hers.

"I never met her mother, but they said she was a dancer, too," he shared.

Buck dancers typically learn one step at a time, then they may add on another or do something different as the music moves them.

"It'll program inside you. Once that happens, you can do it with or without music and you can do it anywhere," said Maupin, winner of the festival's 2009 Trailblazer Award.

Bland said there are few rules to buck dancing.

"You only have the ball of your foot and the heel, so there's only so much you can do. The main thing is to keep in time with the music and try to sound like the song," he said.

Maupin said buck dancers generally keep their feet closer to the ground, while clogging involves more high steps and aerobics.

UNCLE DAVE MACON DAYS

Alpert, who lives in Los Angeles, has been dancing for 35 years, 27 of them solo.

The first time she saw the dance style was in 1969 at a festival in Pipestem, W.V.

"I saw it there and I totally fell in love with it. I learned some steps six years later, then I danced in New Mexico and Texas. Most of that time, I've danced alone and I've made up my own steps, primarily to take it easy on my knees," she said.

A couple of years ago, she met Maupin and his family as they vacationed in California. Since then, he's coached her in a few competitions.

This was the first year for Alpert to ever visit Uncle Dave Macon Days.

"I'm so honored to be here on Thomas' invitation. He's the master of buck dancing, as far as I'm concerned. He's the best I've ever seen in my life," she said.

Maupin is concerned that buck dancing is losing its relevance as more youngsters turn to clogging.

"Some say they like it because it's a little more showy than buck. Well, let us buck dancers come up with something just as showy.

"Just flow with the music, don't fight it," he said.

BUCK DANCE TERMINOLOGY

Buck Dancing has come to be recognized in clogging circles as a specific style of dancing that differs from flat-footing in that a buck dancer keeps his weight on the balls of the feet and produces clicks by the interchanging of heel and toe movements to make what has been described as a "patter" sound. In the mountains of West Virginia, where I come from, the term "buck dancing" is used to describe any solo freestyle dancing -whether it be traditional clogging, flat-foot or otherwise. By the same token, dancing with a partner is known as a "buck and wing" dance. .

The terms outlined below are used to described movements used in the heel -toe dance style commonly known as "buck dancing":

BALL

The transfer of the body weight in a stepping motion to the ball of the foot with the knee bent slightly.

BOUNCE

The same as BALL, but with a hopping motion instead of a stepping motion. You may BOUNCE on the same foot or use it to change from one foot to another .

DIG

A step (transfer of body weight) onto the hack edge of the heel.

FLANGE

A term used to indicate that the dancer has completely turned the foot over and outward to bring the area of the shoe which covers the last two toes flush with the floor. The heel is aimed upward and weight is borne by the other foot

FLICK

A short back BRUSH of the toe tap (usually following a heel sound from the same foot)

HIT

A touch of the back edge of the heel tap to the floor without any transfer of weight to the floor

POINT

A touch of the tip of the shoe (NOT the ball of the foot) to the floor behind the body (or across in front or in back of the opposite foot, etc.)

SKUFF

A short forward brush with the heel tap striking the floor. Normally, the front portion of the heel tap is the area which produces the click.

SKUFFLE

A short forward and back brush which produces two sounds from the heel tap in one beat of music (&a).

SLIP

A forward chug on the ball of the foot only -no heel tap sound is produced.

SNAP

From a foot flat on the floor (normally done as a part of the DRAG on the same foot), the toe of the foot is raised slightly and then immediately dropped again to produce a sound of the toe tap.

RAIN DANCES

In late August, when it is quite dry, especially in the Southwestern United States, Native American tribes used to do a rain dance. Many Native Americans still perform the ritual today, and it can be seen on several reservations in the United States. Men and women gathered together for a rain dance and wore special headdresses and clothing. The jewels used in the clothing, such as turquoise, had special significance, as well as the patterns on the clothing and the use of goat hair in the headdresses. These special clothes were worn every year for the rain dance, and usually were stored the entire year for this purpose.

The steps of the rain dance itself are quite intricate, and unlike circle dances, which are seen in many Native American ceremonies, the men and women stood in separate lines and made zigzagging patterns. It is significant that, while many Native American rituals involved only men, or at least, were more concerned with their influence, the rain dance involved both men and women, showing the importance of rain to the entire community. This rain dance was meant to bring rain for the entire year or for a specific season.

The rain dance was more common to Native American tribes who lived in dry, Southwestern regions which received little rain. The Pueblos, for instance, have a particularly intricate rain dance, since the little rain they do receive is essential for survival. Evidence on how each rain dance was performed is passed down through oral tradition, and the fact that some Native Americans keep these rituals alive today. Although many rain dance costumes appear in museums, some are actually worn by modern day tribes' people during ceremonies or are kept as family heirlooms. The rain dance is still an important part of Native American consciousness, just as we are concerned with the amount of rainfall even in the modern world.

A Gift for You for Your Students

The Double Toe Times is proud to help you recognize the hard work of your clogging students to complete a series of classes by giving you a supply of "clogging diplomas" to hand out at your graduation night. The diplomas are on glossy paper stock with a colorful diploma design that features a clog dancer, a place for you to sign. Just drop us an email or letter, fax or letter to let us know how many diplomas you will need. Please make sure you allow at least 2 weeks to make sure we can get the diplomas to you through U.S. regular mail. Canadian and foreign readers allow 4 weeks. These diplomas are not made available for resale to vendors, and are intended for use by clogging teachers to provide to students only. You must be a subscriber to the Double Toe Times to be eligible. To order for your classes, write or email us:

LIBERTY BELL TAPS

Toe & Heel Sets now available!

Call to order today!

It's a true double toe!

- It's made of steel and has a double flange of metal over the toe and the heel for maximum sound!
- No sharp edges to damage the dance floor.
- No sharp edge holes on the floor plate.
- Easy to Install.

Designed and patented by Dale Isackson of Bell Taps and Carl Blanton of Carl's Clogging Supply, Liberty Bells are a buck dancers delight. The toe plate hangs down in front in true "Bell" style!
